The Lion 1962

The LION of '62 presents its

The home of the Lions.

FOREWORD

For nearly half a century the Lion has been the symbol of Red Lion High . . . a noble beast which roams the hearts and minds of all who have ever attended our Alma Mater. You can see him in the power and fight on the football field, you hear him as he roars on the basketball court, and his agile cunning is well respected on the baseball diamond. He is the dignity of the National Honor Society, the pomp and circumstance of commencement, the inspiration of our student government and the forceful determination of every student willing to learn.

Small wonder that the name LIONS has become identified with those who represent Red Lion High. Yes, we too are LIONS . . . this year more than a thousand strong. And it is as the elder caste of these 1050 YOUNG LIONS that the seniors of '62 proudly present this yearbook.

Chuck Ham, Anora Wierman
and Joel Michael

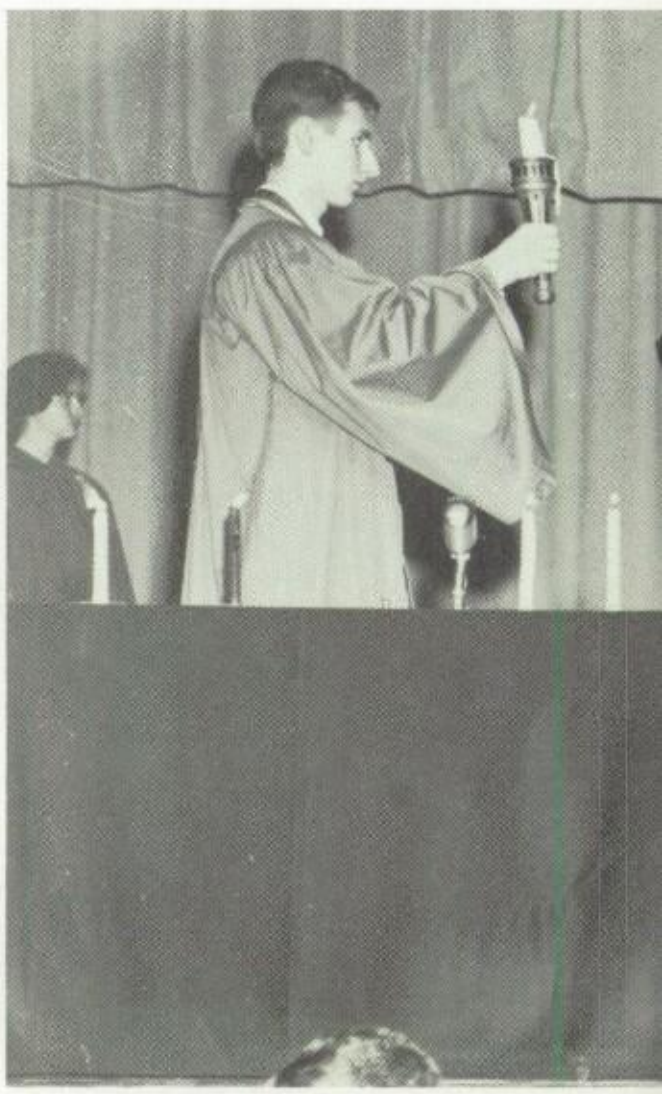
The Young Are Warmly Welcomed,

Orientation Day finds the Lions going all out to give eighth graders a preview of life in senior high. Below: Mr. Sample and student representatives welcome the guests and hand out facts. Bottom: Barbershoppers Barry Lutz, Nate Pickel, Clark Barshinger and Jay Campbell entertain in song and laughter.

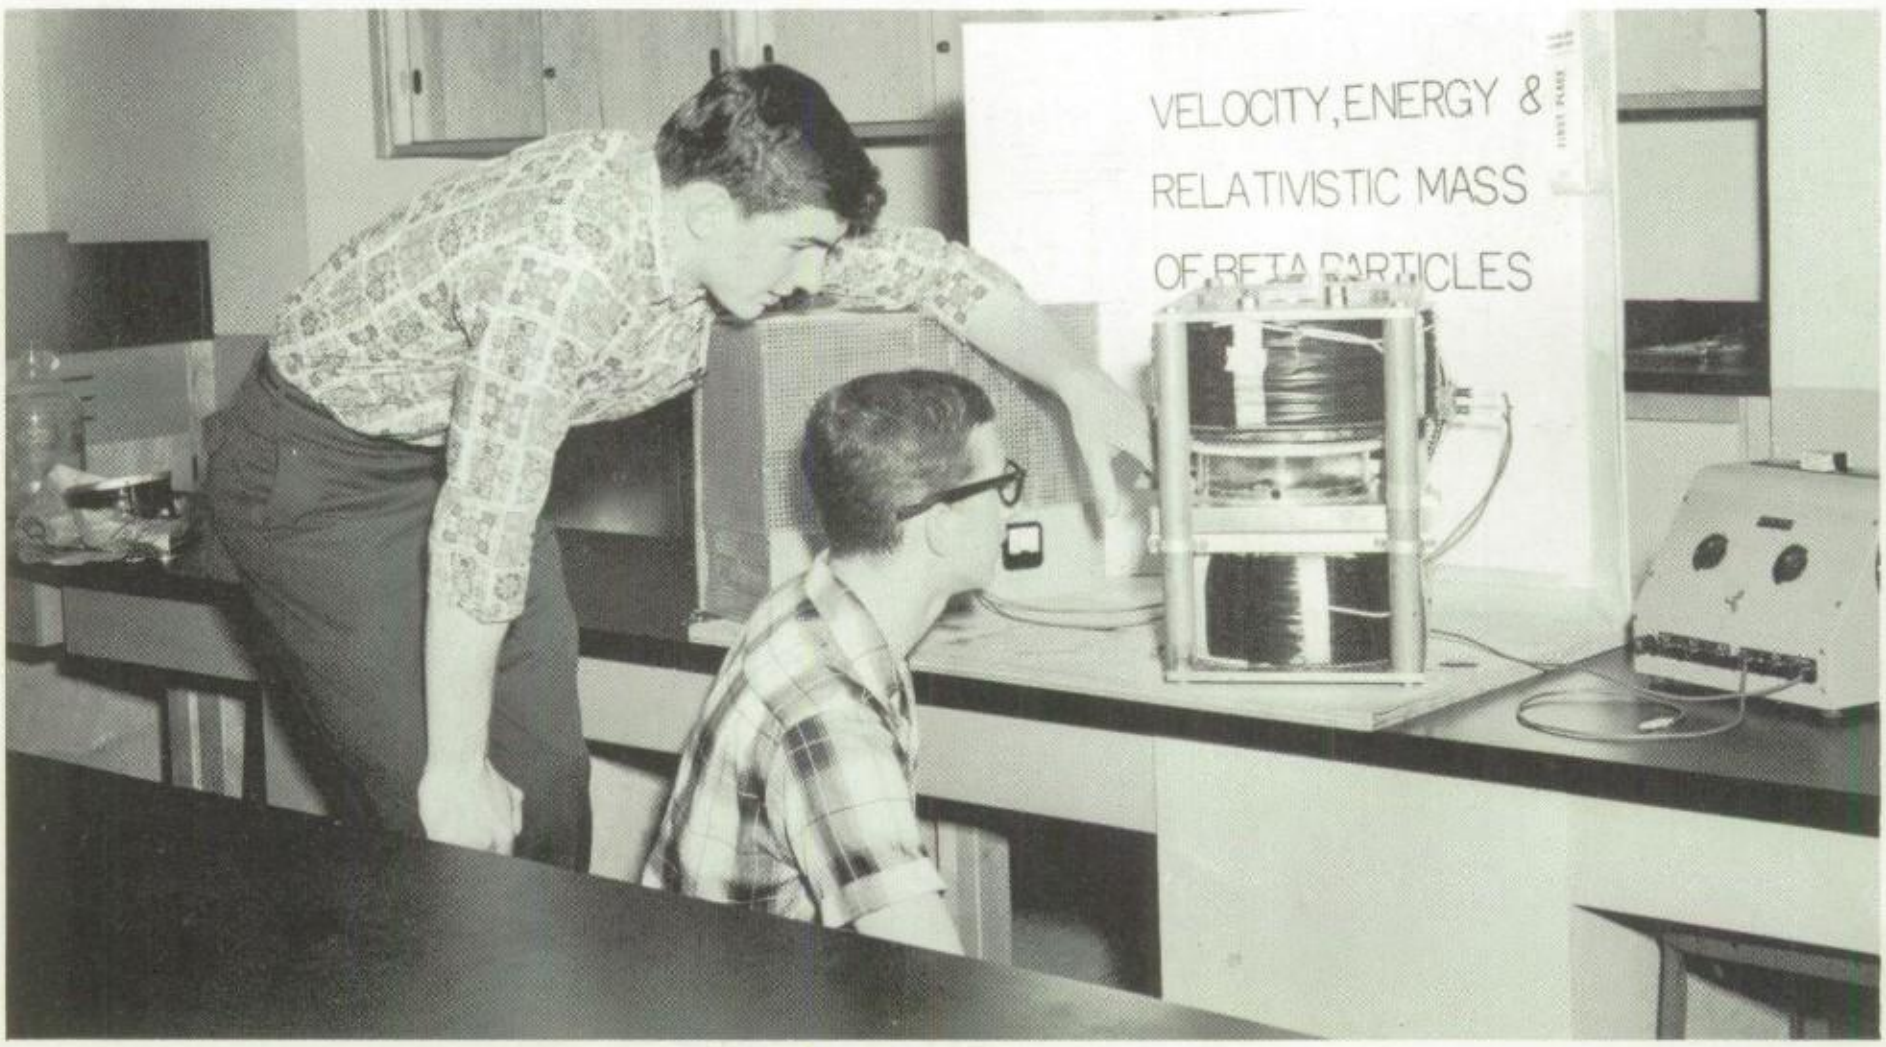


Time again for some of the intelligentsia of the school to be honored by being chosen as members of the National Honor Society . . . eighteen juniors and thirteen seniors this spring. Here, having been indoctrinated as to the four bases for membership—scholarship, leadership, character, and service, they are shown receiving instructions for the next part of the ceremony from Michael Young, master of ceremonies. Following the formalities of induction, they heard an address by Kenneth E. Taylor, Deputy Commissioner for Treatment, Pennsylvania Department of Justice.

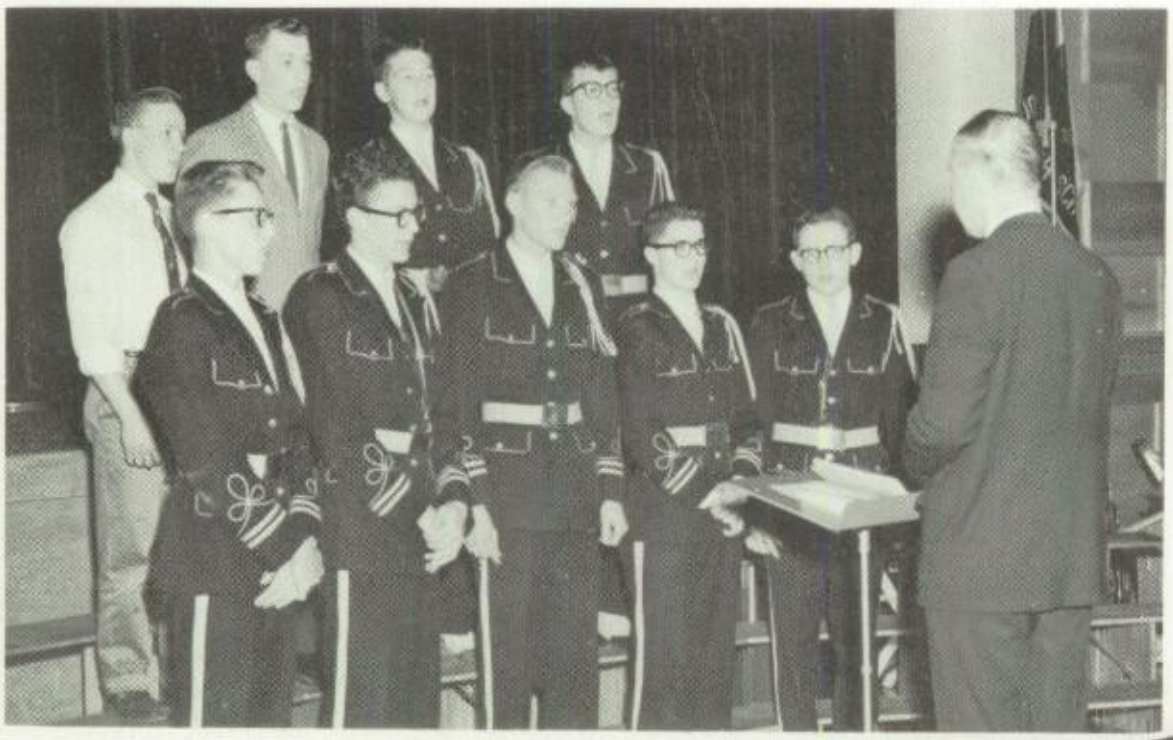
Spring Is the Time for the Lions'

Larry Orwig, Joyce Shue and Gail Sweeney, the hard working editors of the "LEONID," receive certificates and pins from Miss Keeports, their adviser. This year the "Leonid" and LION awards were presented before members of the staffs instead of in assembly.

Ho-hum. Just another one of the many problems Kirby Hickey has for Mr. Richards to solve while planning decorations for the prom.



oung Lions Are Capable as Entertainers



The Boys Ensemble makes its second-year appearance at the spring Night of Music program. Mr. Ward leads the fellows in the familiar "Oklahoma."

Student Council candidates stand before their peers in a Friday assembly as President Floyd Warner officiates for the last time and thanks all for cooperation throughout the year.

Kris Landis clears a place as she and fellow workers get set to enjoy some of the food left from the F.T.A. breakfast for the faculty.

Catcher, pitcher and third baseman—Ray Trout, Glenn Wise, Barry Lloyd—gather at the mound with Coach Fitzkee as Bill Grim anxiously awaits the outcome of the conference . . . a familiar sight to baseball fans and one typical of the seriousness of athletic contests.

Donald Portner uses all his golf know-how to sink his ball for a birdie in the annual golf match with West York. The game was held on the Red Lion Country Club's greens.

Chips, Putts and Fore as Golfers Take to the Links

With snow still visible on the ground and the golfing season far overdue, the young Lions of Red Lion High took to the wet, cold and muddy links of the Red Lion Country Club and were hampered by poor weather and canceled matches throughout the season. Despite these ill winds, however, the season was a successful one with a final tally of eight wins and four losses, which earned a third place in the York County Interscholastic Golf League. Susquehannock, the winner of the League, is proud to be the Lions' toughest foe and the only team which defeated us at home and away. In fact, Susquehannock is the only team to come out victor after embarking on the hilly home course, which our team seems to have mastered.

Prospects for the '62 season look good for the fellows with Don Portner, the top point gainer, and Chuck Horn, the second high point winner, returning with Fred Cope, another letter winner. But it takes five to make up a squad and the positions will be open to anyone who can play good GOLF and satisfy Mr. Nitchkey's standards.

Susquehannock	9½	5½	10	5

The three lettermen of the '60–'61 golfing season—Don Portner, Chuck Horn and Fred Cope—pose with Mr. Nitchkey behind the school. Other members of the squad were Mary Lauer, Holly Jo Grove, Susan Grim, Bob Landis, David Rost and Stewart Pomraning.

Speed, Finesse and Strength Are the Spring track means plenty of hard practice—Jere Golden uses that last bit of energy to pull himself over the crossbar in completion of a pole vault which is only one of the track events.

All out for TRACK! But those answering the call would be inclined to consider the elements their most formidable opponent. During the first meets they had to cope with drizzly weather, and then the blistering heat. Perhaps this competition was a help, for the season turned out some hard-to-beat combinations. The sophomore relay team—Tom Galbreath, Paul Hoffmaster, Jim Miller and Stewart Mitzel—held up very well under pressure, and in at least two instances their winning won the meet for us. (But what excitement when one of them ran a mile, thought he'd finished, and stopped two yards from the finish line!) These boys are all lettermen. Lonny Mitzel, an outstanding member of the squad, never placed less than third. Barry Olewiler was the only senior letterman but Hugh Morton and Ken Sechrist are lettermen in the making. The Lions had a good team last year though it doesn't show on the records: two wins and five losses. They didn't break any records but they did have training and fun.

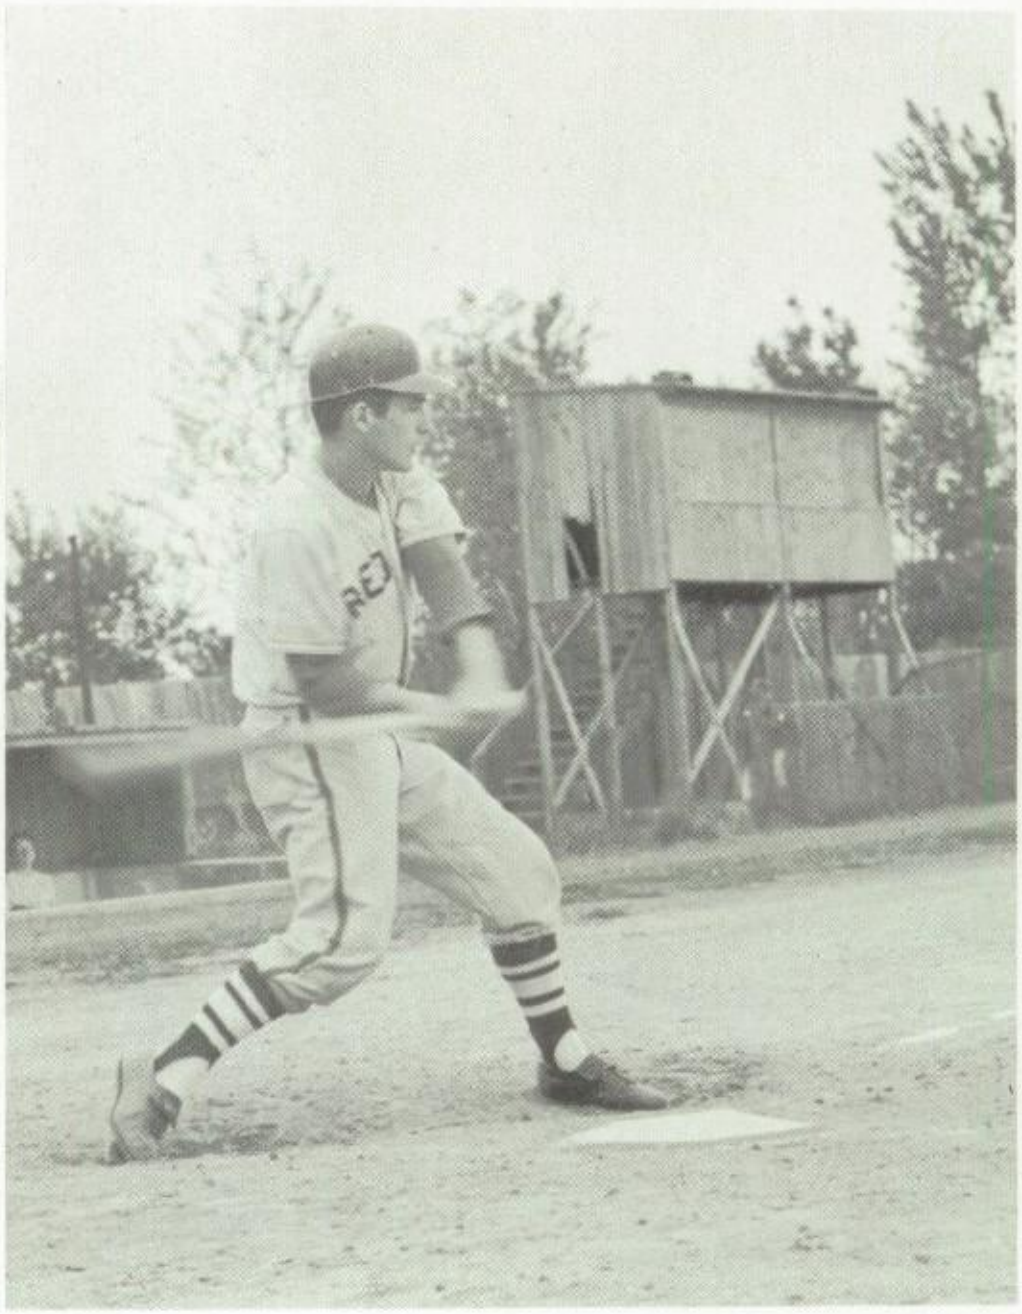
This was the last year for the TRACK team's use of the old football field; next year the campus area south of the building will be ready. Mr. Richards claims the boys will miss the old field . . . or is it the running of the one-fourth of a mile to the field?

FRESHMAN TRACK TEAM—Front: D. McWilliams, G. Gohn, S. Markel, M. Hake. Second: P. Renninger, D. Deardorff, D. Bull, J. Trout. Third: D. Emenheiser, D. Miller, R. Herman, R. Krouse, J. Kline.

Lions Continue to Collect Championships

"Razor" Trout, valuable asset to Red Lion's baseball team, throws a ball from home plate just in the nick of time to put out an opponent.

After banging out another hit, Chub Lloyd rounds second and heads for third in the game with Kennard-Dale.



Bill Grim, a hard hitting short-stop for the Lions, is stopped in the act of swinging by the magic eye of the camera.

There is an old adage—history repeats itself, and for our Lions this year, it proved to be true. For once again they brought home the bacon, by winning not only the Southern Division BASEBALL title, but also the county championship.

In April, Coach Fitzkee took a twenty-five men team, including thirteen lettermen, and drilled them with fundamentals which paid off in a highly successful season. The Lions had difficulty with only the Knights of Suburban, but succeeded in downing the rest of the league with relative ease. This record won the Southern Division for the fifth consecutive year.

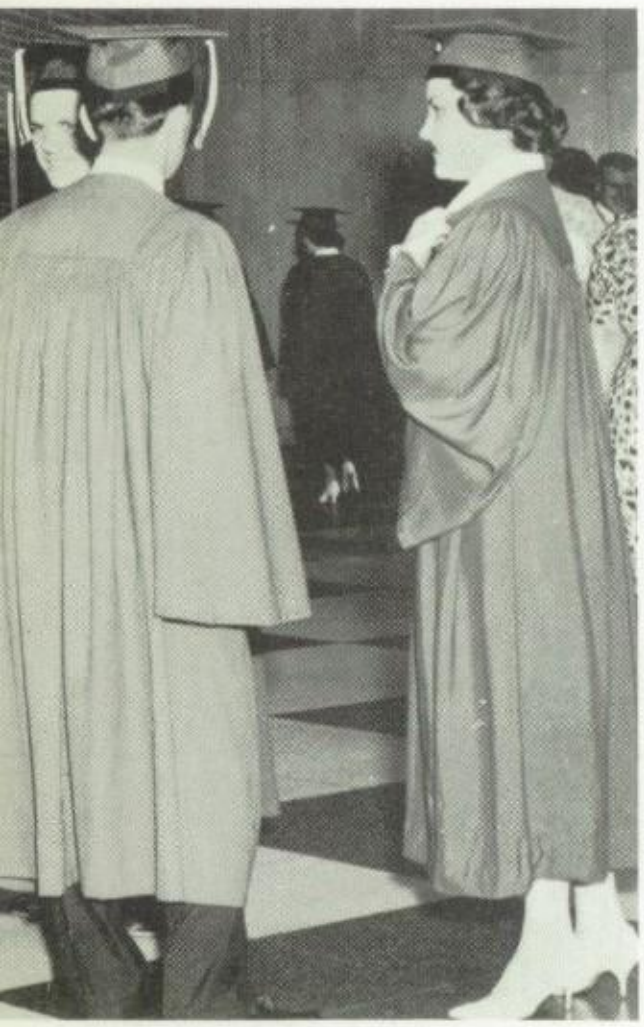
This title qualified the team to meet Northeastern, the Northern Division champs, for the county championship play-off, held at York's Memorial Stadium. The all-important game was held on May 22 at 4:00. Although it was chilly, there was a large turnout to watch the Lions out-maneuver the Bobcats, but only by the small margin of 2–1.

June fifth finds the seniors at commencement. Top: Barry Lutz, Trisha Bonness, Michael Young, Gail Sweeney and Don Baldwin carry on a panel discussion. Bottom: Gloria Newcomer receives her diploma along with a warm handshake from Mr. Sample.

For Graduating Lions, Starlight, Swans and

Soft music and twinkling stars . . . seniors, juniors and guests dancing in a "Wonderland by Night" . . . this was prom night '61. At the stroke of twelve, formal attire was exchanged for sneakers and Bermudas as all moved to the Red Lion Country Club for the all-night party . . . games, movies, trampoline, miniature golf; then a 6:00 o'clock breakfast, and home.

Final events came in quick succession. Class Day, presented twice, featured senior talents in song, dance, comedy and drama. Two days later the Class of '61 was moving through the Baccalaureate Service in the auditorium. Dr. Alfred J. Thomas of St. Paul's gave the address of the evening and the combined choirs of Red Lion provided special music. Then the last step—Commencement. Student speeches evolved into a round table discussion concerning the Peace Corps. Dr. Daniel Biemesderfer, president of Millersville State College, further aroused the minds of seniors and guests with "New Occasions." To climax the evening, Dr. Dellinger and Mr. Sample awarded long-awaited diplomas to the graduating hundred and seventy-eight.



Bill Shaull, Steve Keiser and Barbara Urey chat in the lobby preceding the Baccalaureate Services held in the auditorium.

Waltzing in a "Wonderland by Night" Wendy Baerreis, and Barry Reichard, Linda Laucks and Tim Cope, John Lane and Cheryl Henninger enjoy themselves at the prom.

TERM '61-'62
RL
RED LION AREA S

Mr. Frederick P. Sample, B. A., M. Ed. . . . Supervising Principal . . . Supervising all of the schools in the Red Lion Area School System is an enormous job and is handled by Mr. Sample. He is active in civic work and enjoys such interests as reading, studying, athletics and public speaking.

No, Mrs. Jeannette Trout isn't gossiping over the phone. It's just a part of her daily routine while working as Mr. Sample's secretary.

The Administration Speak

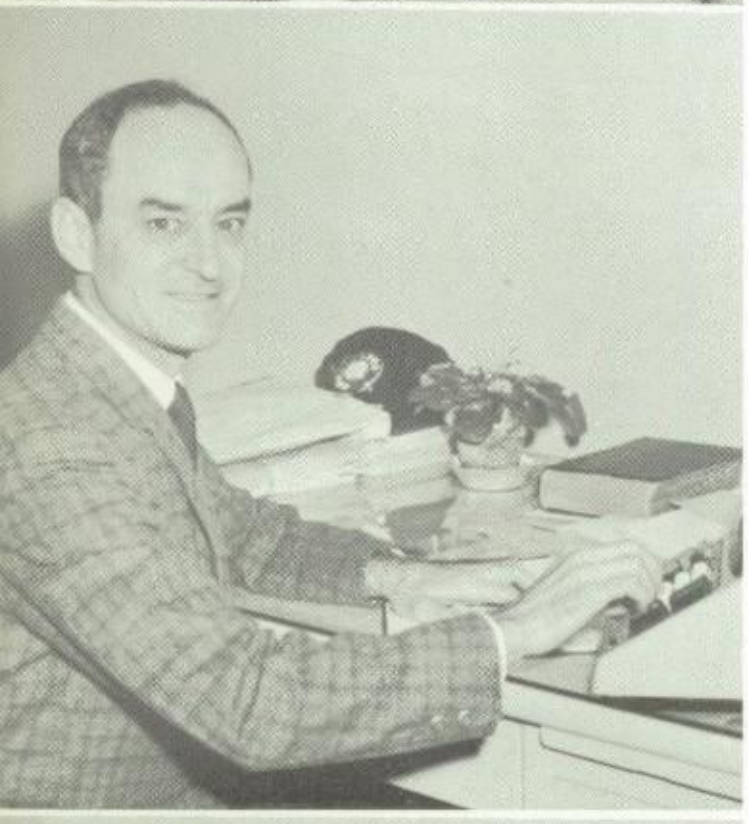
It is, of course, rare that I have the opportunity to meet you—the students—in any personal way and it is this fact that makes me look upon you all too often as the student body, the team, or the class rather than as John, Joe or Jane. One who sits behind the desk of administration in a school our size finds it most difficult to know and appreciate the efforts of each of the individuals within the school.

In spite of our size, however, it is surely worth the effort of each one of us to help fashion our school such that we get to know one another. A pleasant "good morning" or a cheery "hello" is the mark of a good beginning in getting to know each other. The discovery of the fine and good qualities of each of the many people in our school is the wonderful climax of human relations, which are the obligation of faculty, administration, students, and all others within our school, and any visitor who comes through our doors.

Frederick P. Sample

The Cogs Who Help the Wheel of Education

The enormous task of keeping the R.L.A.S.H.S. running smoothly and efficiently belongs to a group of which Mr. Sample and Mr. Zerbe are most influential in promoting co-operation. The office is always in a constant hum of activity. In addition to curriculum and extra-curricular scheduling, the duties of this group include announcements and occasional discipline. A quartet of secretaries handles the bookkeeping and. general secretarial work and (unfortunately) a better than necessary job of typing and mimeographing test and assignment sheets. Another very important group is the school board, chiefly concerned with determining contracts for improvements, hiring new teachers and studying budgets. These are the people who work hard for the success of that complex organization of which we are so proud, the R.L.A.S.H.S.

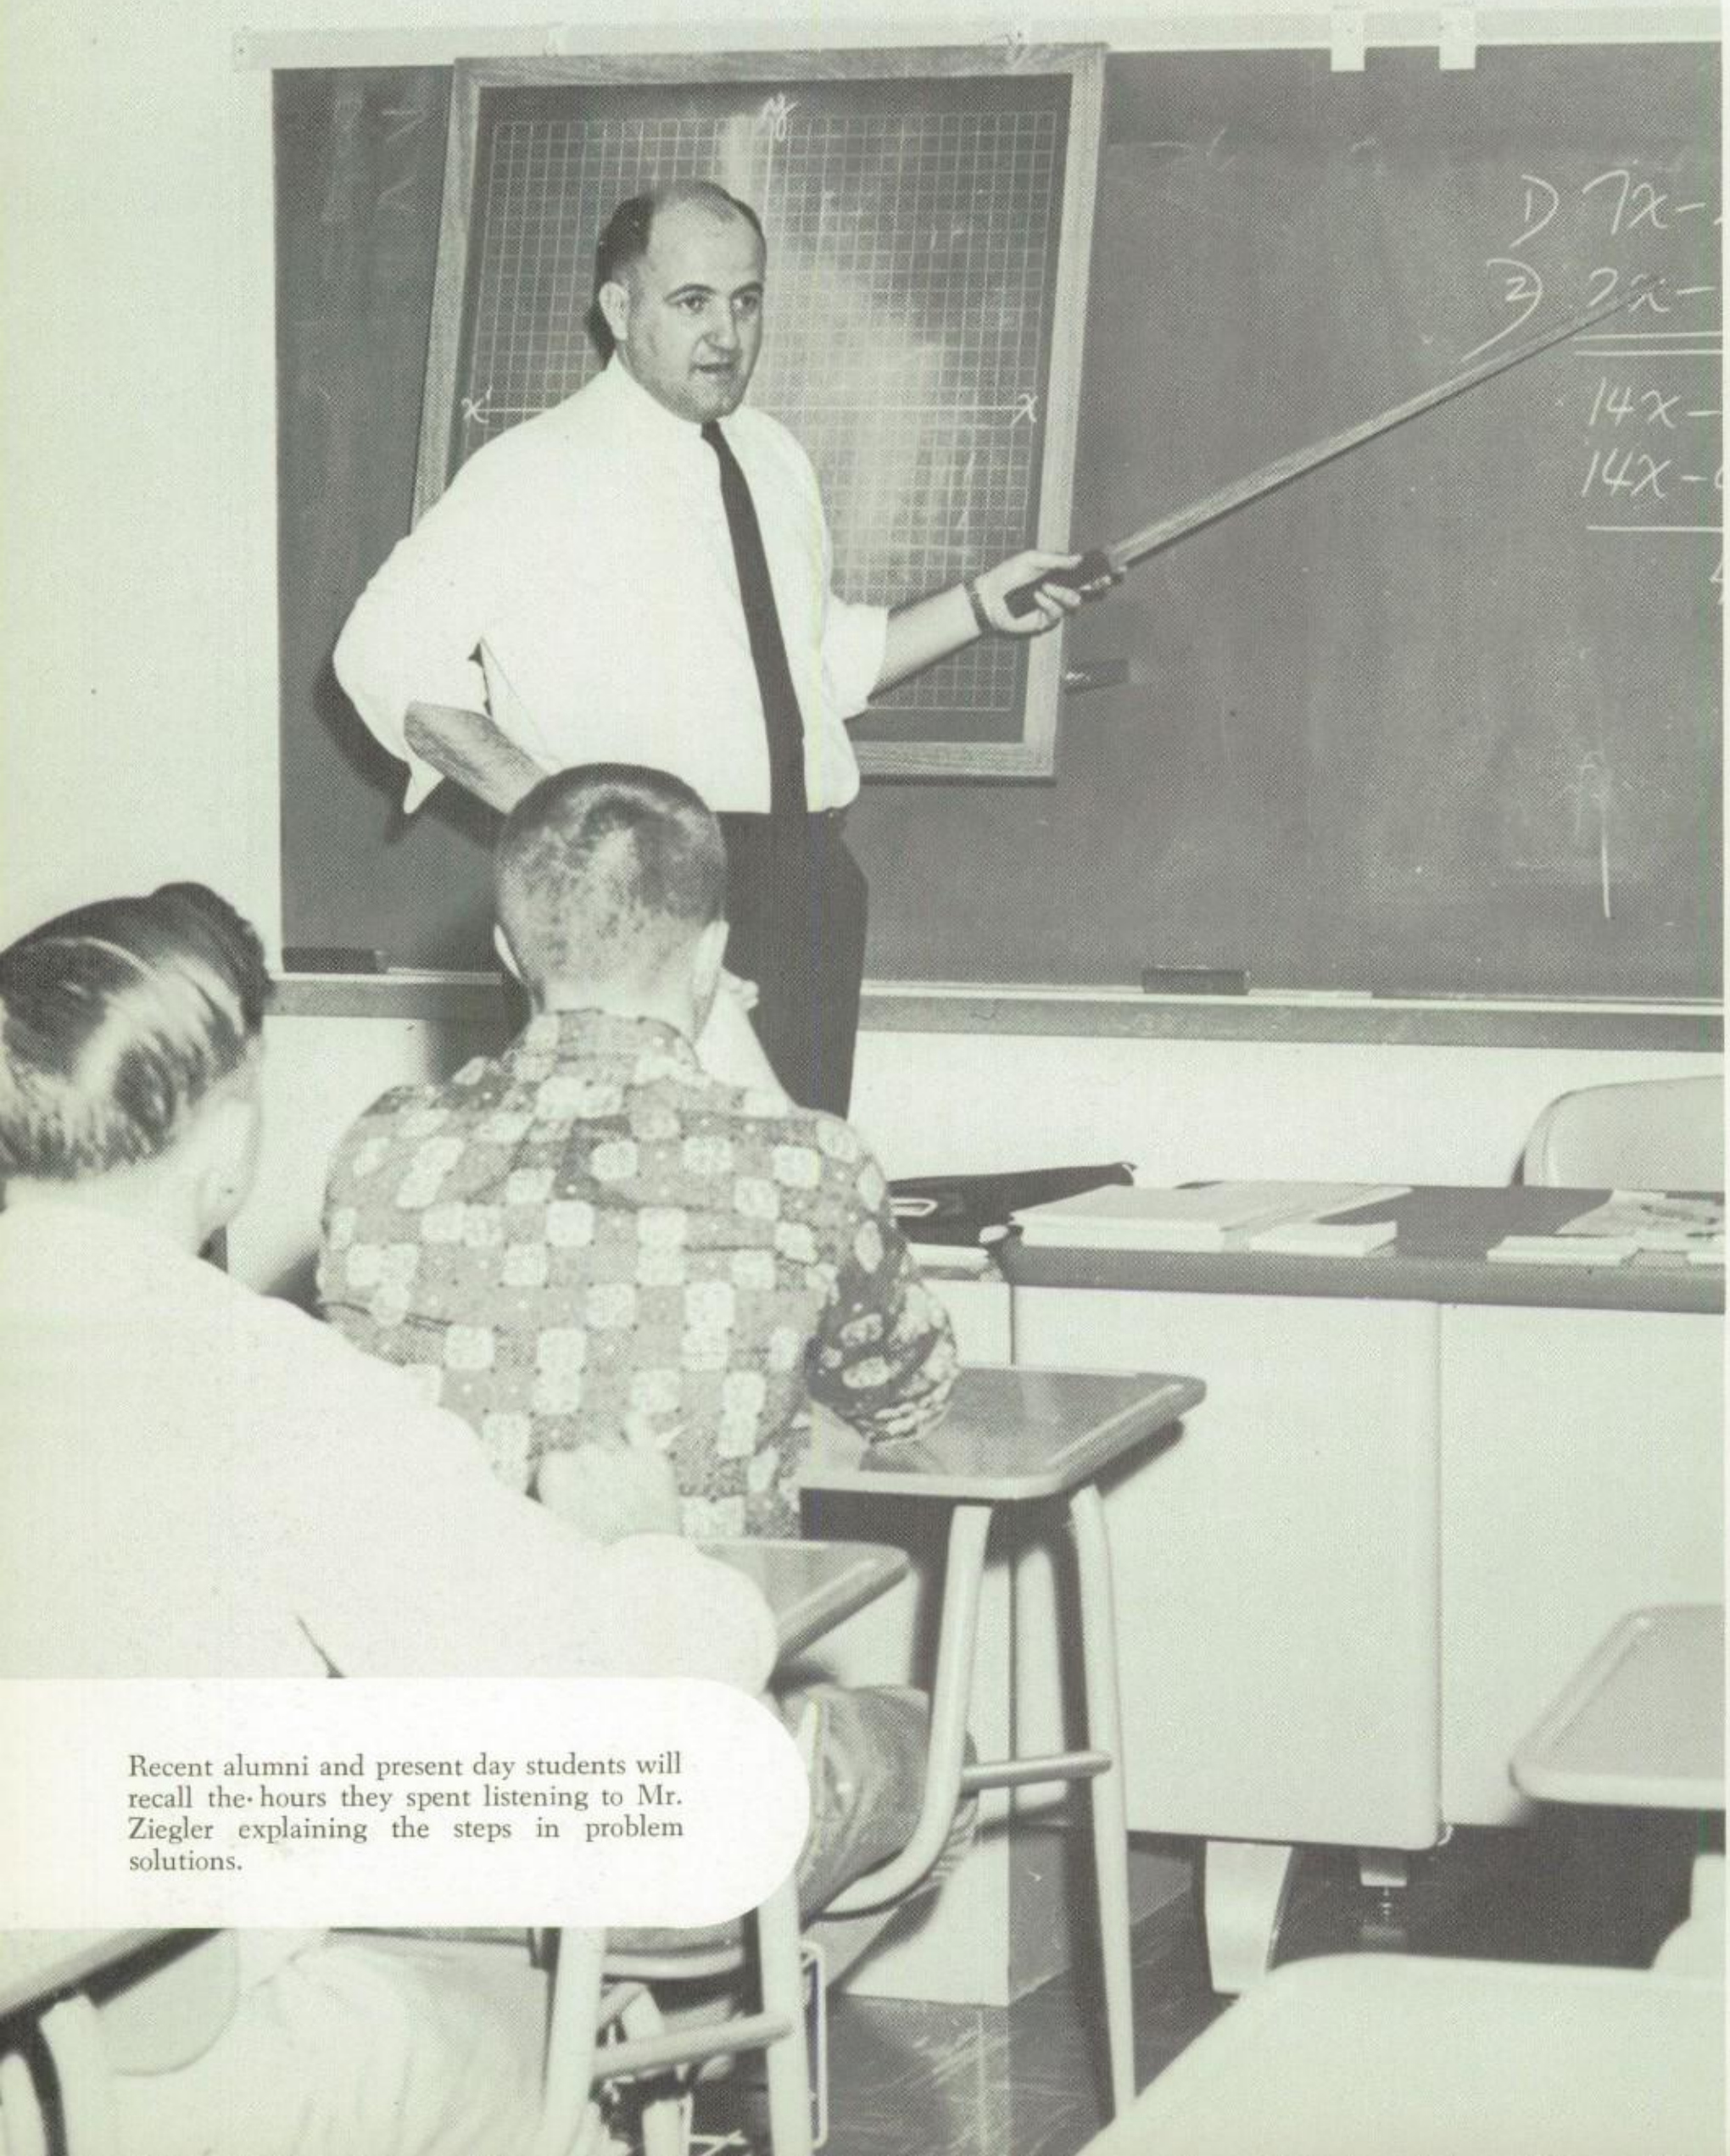


Mr. Martin F. Miller, B. A., M. S. . . . Administrative Assistant . . . His school specialty is pupil personnel; he also enjoys working with his miniature railroad and keeping abreast of current literature and theatrical productions.

Mr. Carl E. Seitz . . . Secretary to Red Lion Area Schools . . . Hunting, music, poetry and horticulture provide pleasant pastimes for Mr. Seitz after he leaves his office world of files and details.

Mr. Robert P. Tschop, B. S. . . . Administrative Assistant . . . Supplies and transportation keep Mr. Tschop jumping, but he manages some spare time for his favorite hobbies—reading, spectator sports and church work.

The office work is never done; just ask anyone of these girls. Miss Betty Craley handles the financial records, Miss Donna Waltermyer acts as secretary for the guidance counselors and the administrative assistants, and Miss Edna Mae Johnson is responsible for the mimeographing and general miscellaneous.



Recent alumni and present day students will recall the hours they spent listening to Mr. Ziegler explaining the steps in problem solutions.

Instructors Who Prepare the Young

Something new for the science department—a refracting telescope. Thelma Grove and Darwin Dosch are looking for surface exposures on the side of the sun!

The young Lions have a wide variety of plans for the years after school. Because this is true the curricula must be adequate to prepare them for the world they are to enter and yet flexible enough to accommodate the college preparatory students whose main worry in school is the acquiring of a solid background, passing college boards and meeting college entrance requirements. Indeed, preparing 1050 YOUNG LIONS, each with a different need, has changed the original significance of the 3R's to the roaring rat race of education.

Some students concentrate on basic fundamentals, which, as the name implies, is a course with basic requirements and across-lines electives. However, a reasonably large percentage of the Lions have their eyes on college, or at least some form of continued education, and these are concerned with the so-called academic courses. Lions in this category must be willing and able to handle a large amount of homework, most of it brain work . . . English themes, language translation, intricate math problems, scientific experiments, to say nothing of the analyzing of governmental and news trends. College requirements continue to stiffen, and the R.L. graduates aim not just "to get in" but to be seen and heard after they are enrolled. Thus a demanding challenge is put before every college hopeful, a challenge which will probably be met and overcome by just plain old hard work.

Mr. John R. Beckley, B. A. . . . General Science, Biology, Consumer Science . . . Auditorium Manager . . . Although an avid hunter and fisherman, Mr. Beckley found time last summer to study microbiology at the University of Maryland.

Mr. William R. Carlson, B. S. . . . Algebra, Business Math . . . Yearbook, Photography Club . . . When not hunting and fishing, he keeps up with the political scene by studying Russian and German.

Miss Helen E. Clevenger, B. A., M. A. . . . English I, Latin II . . . Lion . . . Knitting, reading and gardening provide recreation for Miss Clevenger. Incidentally, she credits her beautiful flowers to good old York County tobacco.

Mr. Robert G. Eveler, B. A. . . . Business Arithmetic, Shop Math, Basic Math . . . Freshman Football . . . To him hunting and trapping come first, second and last for out-of-the-classroom activities.

Algebra to Zoology, the List of

Mr. Yinger to the rescue . . . Sandy Ward, Ann Rosenberger and Bill Sechrist find their economic geography interesting but slightly puzzling at times.

Keith McCleary and Patti Grove study intently the part of the dissected earthworm to which Bill Goad is pointing. Dissection is an important part of biology for the sophomores.

Mrs. Hilda C. Jackowick, B. A., M. Ed. . . . English II, Latin I . . . Senior Class Play, Class Day, Dramatic Club . . . She enjoys collecting antiques, being with her two grandsons, and driving over the mountain roads of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Donald L. Jones. B. S. . . . World History, Civics . . . Ushering . . . Mr. Jones, an alumnus just having returned to teach at his alma mater, rates sports high for his out-of-school activities and turns to music for enjoyment and relaxation.

Miss Marie Keeports, B. A., M. A. . . . English . . . LEONID . . . Miss Keeports spends many gratifying and a few enraging moments knitting some of those beautiful sweaters we see her wearing. Travel, however, rates top interest.

Miss Betty Ann Lord, B. S. . . . Algebra I and Basic Mathematics . . . A newcomer to our area, Miss Lord enjoys reading and sewing when indoors, and out-of-doors she is an active sports enthusiast.

Adding Extracurricular Activities for

In senior sociology class Ken Shaull and Bob Smith pay close attention as Mr. Frits discusses the good points of marriage. Mr. Frits is trying to encourage debate, which he thoroughly enjoys.

Report card day for the Lions . . . Mr. Nyer seems to enjoy affixing the oral English grade for which Dave Miller waits, apparently pleased.

Mr. Carroll T. Posey, B. S. . . . Life Science . . . Biology Club . . . Another scientist to switch from the role of a teacher to a student . . . this summer Mr. Posey worked towards his master's degree at Western Maryland College.

Mr. Freeland E. Shaffer, B. S., M. S. . . . Chemistry, Physics . . . Electronics, photography and reading fill much of his spare time, but he spent this summer completing work on his M. S. degree at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute.

Mr. Dale L. Shellenberger, B. A. . . . Civics, World History . . . Sophomore Adviser, Assistant Football . . . He had a busy summer with his Basketball for Boys, Baseball for Boys, and supervision of Windsor playground.

Mr. N. Eugene Shoemaker, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Biology . . . Chess Club . . . There was little travel for Mr. Shoemaker this summer, but instead a summer of reading (much of which was about those "little beasties"), sleeping and work.

Lions Learn Tricks of the Trade

For many of the Lions, high school is their final, formal education. For this reason we must have practical subjects to meet student needs . . . commercial, agriculture, home economics and shop. In the first category, Red Lion turns out many capable secretaries to prove themselves in the business world, and it offers electives to students of other curricula. And the farmers to be . . . how could we possibly live without them! At R.L.A.S.H.S. they learn the latest farming techniques and ways of keeping equipment in tip-top shape. Also of vital importance to all of us is the training of girls who will, at one time or another, have to learn how to run a home smoothly. For those planning to settle down immediately after graduation, home economics provides interesting bits of information on how to cultivate a successful home. In the fourth classification we find the industrial arts boys—our future printers, carpenters, and metal workers—who will help greatly in making living more comfortable.

That bit of fuzz and feathers is no match for Terry Criswell, Mr. Myers' assistant in caponizing this chick. Leroy Kohlbus, Larry Sadler, Terrie Robinson and Porter Kauffman are observing the process for the first time.

Mr. Kenneth Bachman, B. S. . . . Industrial Arts, Shop Math . . . Stage Crew . . . Mr. Bachman enjoys reading and camping, and relaxes with a game of tennis whenever possible. He is also an avid and accomplished woodworking fan.

Mrs. Aleta S. Ehrhart, B. S. . . . Typing II, Office Practice, General Business . . . Tri-Hi-Y . . . She had the pleasure of moving into a new home last summer and attended the Gregg Methods Conference in Chicago.

Miss Jeanette Espenshade, B. S. . . . Bookkeeping, General Business . . . Football Programs, Prom Committee . . . Her interests range from selling things and playing cards to painting the rooms in her home.

Mrs. Mae Mann, B. A. . . . Home Economics . . . Future Homemakers of America . . . Mrs. Mann took time out from selling encyclopedias this summer to spend a week with her family visiting historical sites in Virginia.

And Gain Skills, Vocational and Avocational

Mrs. Florence Uhler, B. S. . . . Home Economics . . . Future Homemakers of America . . . Mrs. Uhler is kept busy helping with refreshments for school affairs. She also indulges in craft works and has an obsession for hats.

Mr. Lowell R. Withers, B. S. . . . Wood and Metal Work . . . Stage Crew . . . Mr. Withers is not only an enthusiastic hunter and fisherman but he also enjoys woodworking.

Mr. Jay O. Yinger, B. S. . . . Economic Geography, Retail Selling, Rapid Calculation . . . Sports, concentrating mainly on hunting, seem to fill the spare hours of Mr. Yinger. He may also be seen relaxing at the ole fishing hole.

Mr. Ward S. Yorks, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Graphic Arts and Drawing . . . School Printing . . . Mr. Yorks summer-traveled in Michigan, Northern Ontario and Quebec, Canada. He studied new developments in printing at Ferris Institute.

For Us, Health, the Fine Arts, or a Gentle

Taking advantage of the information on education and occupations available in the guidance office, Sally Smith inspects the shelves of pamphlets with Mrs. Sheckart.

Betty Russell takes to the wheel while Mr. Maddox and Judy Scheffman draw a good deep breath before entering the car. Mr. Maddox is certainly the bravest of the faculty, teaching all of the driver education classes.

Mr. Charles R. Nitchkey, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Health and Physical Education, Director of Athletics, Golf . . . Mr. Nitchkey is director of the summer recreation program at Fairmount Park. He is also an avid reader of Civil War material.

Mrs. Patsy D. Rexroth, R. N. . . . School Nurse . . . Future Nurses Club . . . She finds time from supervising the Rexroth clan to attend the football games. Also, this past summer she worked for Doctor Dellinger.

Mr. Samuel Richards, B. S. . . . Art . . . Art Club, Prom Decorations, Stage Set Design and Decoration . . . This artist, who enjoys working with pen and ink and water color, is a hunter and fisherman at heart.

Mrs. Edna R. Sheckart, B. S., M. Ed. . . . Guidance . . . Future Teachers Club . . . In addition to counselling, Mrs. Sheckart shares hunting and fishing interests with her husband. Reading is her favorite indoor hobby.

Den Keepers of the Hungry Young Lions

By lunch time the students have a tremendous appetite and at the sound of the lunchbell they dash to the cafe. It's all a matter of "first come, first serve" as they form two lines at the rear. Throughout the school year a total of 185,000 meals will be served.

Preparing menus to please all of the students is a chore no one can actually do, but the cafeteria staff does its best. . . . Mrs. Elizabeth Smith (manager), Mrs. Betty Barshinger, Mrs. Ida Stabley, Mrs. Alma Smith.

Any day of the week you'll find the cooks at work preparing for the noon rush. The other half of the staff—Mrs. Grace Smith, Mrs. Erma McGuigan, Mrs. Sara Grove and Mrs. Viola Schmuck—are making Bumstead sandwiches.

Government-minded Lions with a Considerable

The STUDENT COUNCIL started the year with a most successful social event, a carnival. This gala affair was designed to welcome the new cubs to our school, but also provided amusements, entertainment and many laughs for the old Lions. They kept us whirling and twirling as we glided lightly to the music provided for our pleasure during the Fall Frolic. Next displaying their unending energy and willingness to work, they sponsored a car wash. Besides providing clean cars for all Red Lion and surrounding area, and wet clothes for the participants it turned out to be quite a profitable adventure.

A collection for CARE during the Christmas season raised $230 from the benevolent Lions while yet another yuletide activity was door decorating for which prizes were awarded. An exchange assembly was again carried out with Dallastown, and the participating members from the student body also entertained two other institutions. Future activities for the council include selling of school pennants and jewelry along with a Valentines' dance both of which are for the purpose of raising funds for a foreign exchange student.

This book is the result of many man hours of work put forth by this group of make-up and editorial staffers. Sitting: E. Posey, A. Wierman, V. Hilt, K. Smith, D. Ziegler, J. Shaull. Standing: H. J. Grove, Miss Clevenger, S. Maurer, J. Michael, L. Wagner, C. Horn, M. Smith, N. Albany, A. Taylor, A. Kehr.

At the completion of LION sales, these seniors had sold the largest number of yearbooks . . . Bob Tome with 28, and Dorcas Haines and Pat Stokes close behind.

Anybody who happens to pass the activity office on Tuesday or Thursday mornings finds a great deal of hustle and bustle as our LION staffers work on the '62 LION. Added to the feeling of exigency is the pitter patter of little typewriters as the typists translate the hieroglyphics of the editorial staff into readable English. The hard-working business staff was really kept busy keeping records and counting the money which came in from selling even more patrons than were sold last year. This doesn't tell the whole story because work on the LION actually started last summer when our ambitious members of the make-up and editorial staffs met several times in the activity office at school and in the homes of the LION editors.

Room B302 also feels the effects of the speed and hard work needed to produce a good yearbook as the busy photographers rush in and out of the dark room, where they work daily, developing and enlarging pictures to satisfy the demands of the make-up staff.

Literary Lions Keep Us Informed Monthly

Kris Landis discusses the possibility of a picture of our team in the tentative arrangement for the sport pages to Editor-in-chief Dorcas Haines and Susie Watkins. Dan Brant, sports editor, sketches plans and explains them to Larry Rost, Beverly Dosch, Bill Sechrist and Tom Galbreath.

The feature writers, headed by Sue Sheckart, include Elsie Emenheiser, Nina Hannigan, Pam Sechrist, Joan

Music in the Lions' Den Takes Many Forms

This quartet of feminine pulchritude is not often seen after the football season's end; however, they certainly add to our pre-game and half time performances as they precede the band. They are the COLOR GUARD—Mary Smith, Donaleen Murphy, Sallie Maurer and Cheryl Henninger.

Jay Campbell, Clark Barshinger, Dennis Kohler and Brian Spurley make up a popular quartet. Jay also participated in district chorus this year.

The students within the vocal groups play a large role in the school's activities, taking part in assemblies, in the annual Night of Music presentation, as well as appearing in other school functions. Students from all four grades make up the enrollments of these groups—the GIRLS CHORUS, the BOYS CHORUS, and MIXED CHORUS.

"Practice, practice, practice" seems to be the theme at each meeting of the choruses, and practice they do. For MIXED CHORUS Monday is the designated day for their workout while the students of A104 are chased from their room. Tuesday, same place and same time, the GIRLS CHORUS meets with approximately seventy-five members making it about the same as MIXED CHORUS.

Both of these choruses enjoy practicing and performing under the direction of Mrs. Adams. The other vocal group, the BOYS CHORUS, is lead by our band director, Mr. Ward. This crew of fifteen, the smallest of the choruses, exercise their vocal chords every other Thursday. Most of the songs they practice and sing are rather complex, involving three part harmony. A couple of these fellows made the finals at District Chorus this year, indeed a credit to their instructor, their school, and themselves.

Dramatic Tips Are Presented and Practiced

Above: Members of the Junior-Senior Dramatics Club congregate around their advisor, Mrs. Jackowick, to make plans for future club activities . . . H. Fauth, B. Shue, R. Shindler, P. Pitzer, R. Tome, B. MacDonald, K. Leiphart, J. Scheffman.

Right: The stage crew, largely seniors, put forth their efforts to help make the school affairs a success. Here we find Curvin Kraft and Ken Leiphart nailing scenery for the junior play.

Left: Sue Ellen Fudem and Diana Atkins listen as Peggy Sullivan reads her lines in the play try-outs for the freshmen-sophomore dramatics group. Right: Kathy Bonness, Ottilies Jones and Helen Kowach, may be stars in the making as they perform a version of Macbeth's dagger scene as it is found in the first chapter of Little Women. Is that a shoe (oops! dagger) which Kathy sees before her?

To These Lions Service is the byword

Nan Smith pauses inquiringly as friend, Brenda Nace, poses a question on the why's and wherefore's of typing cards for the card cata logue. The girls frequently spend free periods typing request letters for information and material for the vertical file.

In the den of the 1050 Young Lions there are two important service clubs—the LIBRARY CLUB and the TRI-HI-Y. The librarians meet every Wednesday with Mrs. Miller and during their work periods clean the shelves, return the misplaced books, and mend damaged volumes. The business meetings are reserved for the planning of activities which this year included the making of fall and Christmas arrangements, scrapbooks for veteran and children's hospitals via the Red Cross, a spring tea and a field trip. As for the TRI-HI-Y gals, they meet every other week with their adviser, Mrs. Ehrhart, and put on programs for their own group; they have accepted invitations to local square dances. Continuing the service list, the TRI-HI-Y has helped out with clothing drives for the needy and made valentine favors. In short, these unselfish young ladies aid others in any way they are able and enjoy doing so.

Behind what appears to be mild bedlam we see the faces of Library Club members Galen Hake, Ken Stearn and Sandy Holtzinger as they industriously mend books during one of their many free periods spent in library work.

The juniors of the Tri-Hi-Y held a quiz program: "I've Got a Secret"—during one of their regular meetings. Judy Scheffman serves as moderator with Mary Ann Shaull being one of the contestants. The rest of the Tri-Hi-Y act as panelists trying to guess Mary Ann's secret which turns out to be the fact that she is on the distinguished honor roll for the first time. Mrs. Ehrhart is the adviser for this club which meets every other Tuesday.

Those Concerned Are Taught by Experience

Members of the Future Nurses Club are busy making doll wardrobes for unfortunate youngsters in time for Christmas . . . Seated: Elaine Wambaugh, Mary Smith, Joyce Brenneman, Debbie Craley, Kathy Clark, Kay Snyder, Darlene Sechrist and Faune Colvin. Standing: Geraldine Shipp, Donna Koons, Karen Herbst and their adviser, Mrs. Pat Rexroth.

With Valentine's Day in the offing the F.H.A. girls are right in the spirit of things making valentines for the children's ward of the York Hospital. The problem at hand, is being tackled by Ann Bender, Velma Baldwin and Betty Buecker, to find ideas for valentines.

Robert Robinson, an eleventh grade F.F.A. member, won two first prizes at the York Fair this year. Bob captured a first place in the produce and ham exhibition and another first place in the breeder, feeder and litter competition. Here he is proudly displaying his prize winning Yorkshires.

FUTURE TEACHERS, FUTURE NURSES, FUTURE FARMERS and FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA are not content to sit back in an easy chair and let the world go by . . . no sir, they're going along! The members of the F.T.A. gain actual experience by observing and even taking over classrooms. They also find time for guest speakers and end their year with a faculty breakfast, their way of saying thanks. The Florence Nightingales of tomorrow have been active in assisting in the efforts of the V.N.A. and the March of Dimes in our community. The Future Farmers have for years been a successful group and this year is no exception. In addition to taking part in the Junior Dairy Show and playing host to the Leadership Training Conference, they can boast of the three senior boys who received the Keystone Farmer's Degree. Last, but certainly not least, is the F.H.A., a sister to the home economics department. It is here that the girls increase their knowledge in the arts of the home.

Lions Share and Enjoy Many Interests

Freshman Lonnie Denton has an avid interest in art, hence Art Club membership. Here students get the chance to draw, sculpt and create as much as they please.

The Lions have a few clubs especially for those whose interests are rather unique or creative. Among these every-other-week organizations is the PHOTOGAPHY CLUB, adviser Mr. Carlson, whose members record some of the daily happenings around the school which are well worth remembering. Its members also learn how to play, snap, contact, print and develop the pictures which they capture. The DANCING CLUB is for Lions with light feet as well as a light heart. This group headed by Miss Sweeney, brushes up on all the dance steps from the once popular Charleston to the very latest sensation, the Twist. For the more artistically skilled student there is the ART CLUB under the direction of Mr. Richards. The members of this organization show their talents in various forms of art, ranging from reed baskets to metallic jewelry. The members need not be Picassos but only those who enjoy art. Tomorrow's scientists and bacteriologists are led by Mr. Posey in BIOLOGY CLUB. Throughout the year, members of this organization perform advanced dissections, present research papers and review biological films. A trip to the Pennsylvania State Farm Show is on the list of completed activities, while another jaunt to the Capital Area Science Fair in Harrisburg is still to be taken.

Giving us a small demonstration of the polka are Ann Geesey, Lynn Markel, Brenda Frey, Darlene Harrison, Cynthia Garner, Janet Henry and Stephanie Stabley.

Just One of the Rewards of Hard Work

Jan Uhler, Kris Landis and Chuck Horn discuss with Mr. Sheckart their parts for N.H.S. induction.

As the second semester begins, there's always a slight flurry in the honor realm as grades and activities are checked for the memberships of three societies. Each year a certain percentage of the senior and junior classes is accepted for membership in the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY. Members are eligible through scholarship but they are elected through qualities of service, leadership and character as best exemplified by the student. For the eleven seniors and thirteen juniors elected this year, the March induction ceremony is a highlight long to be remembered. Another group of hardworking students receive their just rewards—five sophomores were given certificates of membership in the LATIN HONOR SOCIETY. They were chosen on subject aptitude and grade average in Latin over a two year period. Our third honor society is for athletes—the NATIONAL ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIP SOCIETY. As the name indicates members of this society must maintain a high scholastic average for three semesters as well as fulfill requirements for a letter in any Varsity school sport.

For seven consecutive years our football players have retained the principals' trophy by defeating West York. The happy boys watch as Mr. Goodling, Principal of West York, hands the trophy over to Mr. Zerbe.

Lions, Fleet of Foot with Vim,

The CROSS-COUNTRY TRACK team is fall conditioning for spring competition, but it still finds plenty of opponents who are ready for a challenge. Paul Hoffmaster is the only letterman from spring track with the rest of the team for the most part inexperienced. The cross-country team has been practicing on the old football field and is now running 20–30 laps which is the equivalent of four or five miles. During early training they tried to run two to three miles, gradually pushing themselves harder and harder. In the near future Red Lion hopes to set up a cross-country course which will probably be on and around the Red Lion Country Club. CROSS-COUNTRY TRACK will eventually form a league of its own which is now in the planning. Members of this organized league will be West York, Central, Eastern, Dallastown and our own Lions. Hats off to the track team and everything they've tried to do in a contrast of blistering heat which turned to lung-aching cold.

Two members of the cross-country track team, Paul Hoffmaster and Doug Meads, practice sprinting in an after-school run in the gym. These two fellows accounted for at least nine first places last year.

Enthusiasm via Rabbits, Cheers

Our peppy FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS often hold practices in the lobby. Members of the squad are Lee Ann Gatewood, Delores Kline, Susan Flinchbaugh, Jill Toomey, Nancy Miller and Barbara Jackson. Their intensive practice paid off for they captured the second place in the annual junior high cheerleading contest.

"Get in the rabbit habit, thump'em!" was the theme of the senior float this year. For almost two weeks the seniors toiled on their huge eighteen foot rabbit, first constructing the frame and then completely covering it with kleenex and napkins. Their reward was first prize in the Homecoming pep rally.

Ready to lead the student body in some rousing cheers are our JUNIOR VARSITY CHEERLEADERS—Sandra Markey, Cynthia Garner, Sandra Peters, Beverly Blouse and Lynn Markel. These girls were kept quite busy helping out at school functions throughout the year.

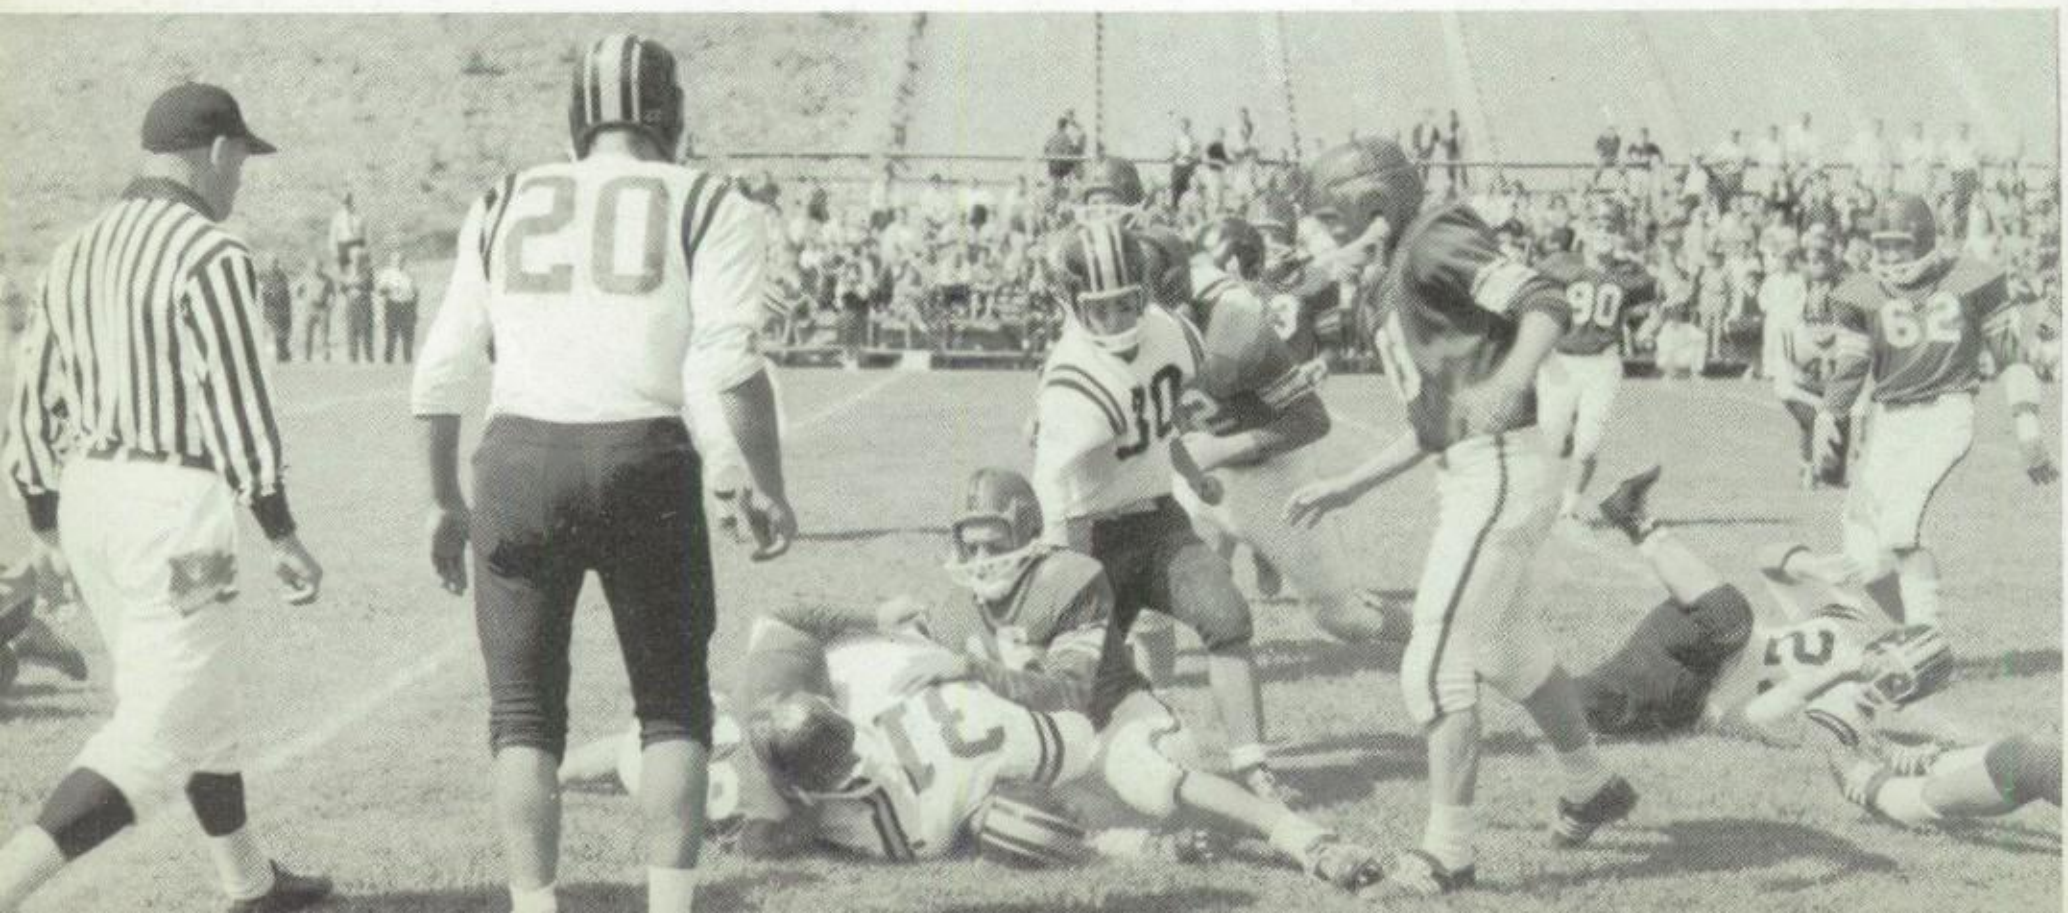
The action is stopped by the speed of light as the shutter snaps. Ray Trout hovers over teammate Bill Grim who has just been tackled. Morgan Butcher seems to be trying to pull the Warwick tackler away as the referee approaches.



Lionesses and Service

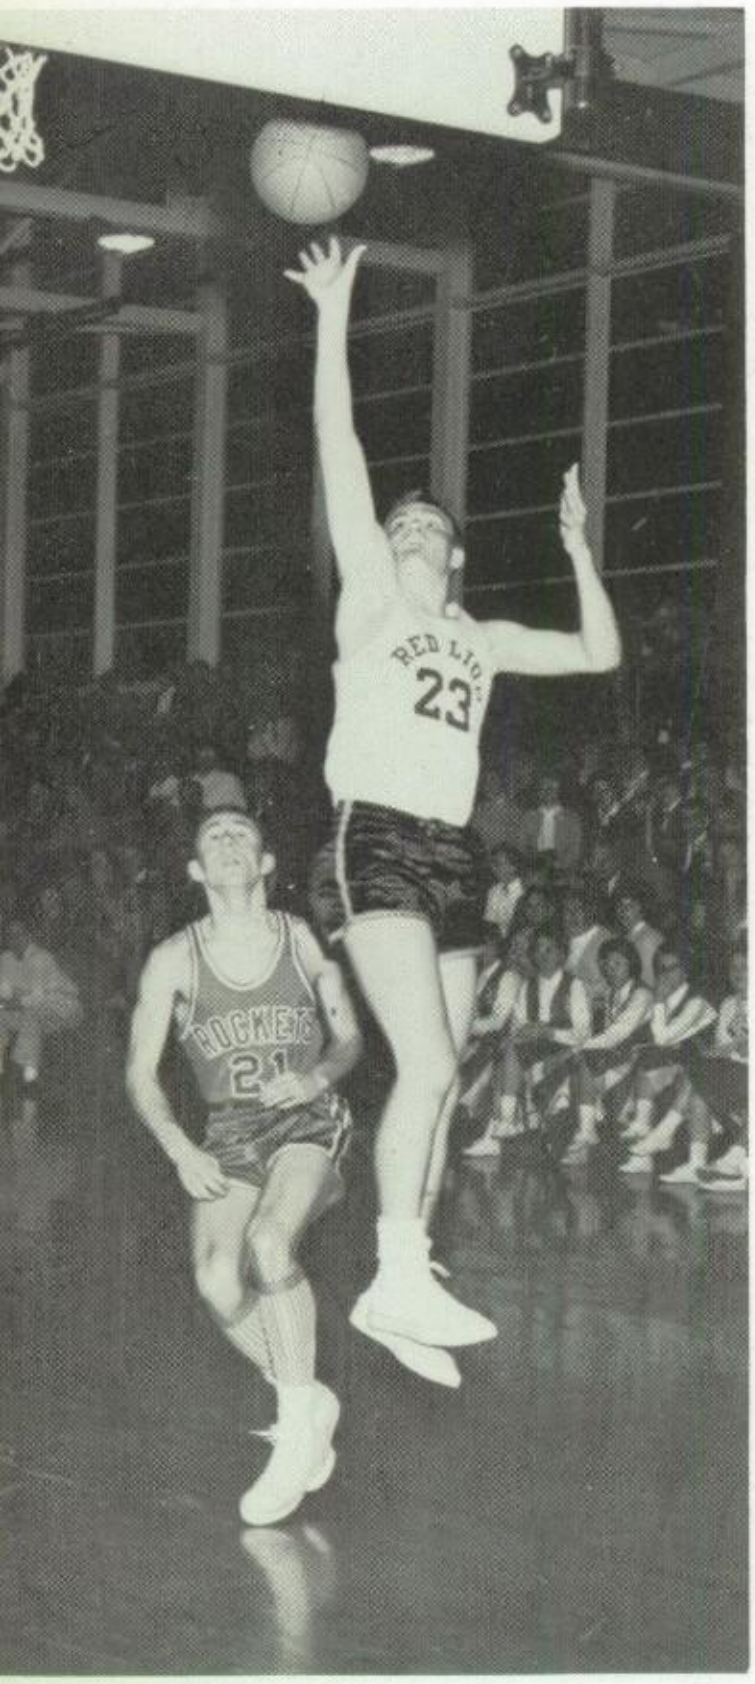
The spectators sitting on the sidelines, seem to be quite interested in the action taking place in gym class. Games such as this develop the know-how which makes the after school G.A.A. events so exciting. In the foreground are Margie Patton, Rachael Amspacker, Diane Frey, Phyllis Buchanan and Peggy Sullivan.

Basketeers Combine Speed and Finesse on



During the Red Lion–Spring Grove game, Jim Miller attempts to lay the basketball in the basket while his guard eagerly waits for the rebound.

While the Lions of football were taking their last week of practice another major sport was just beginning. This event with almost a four-month season is, of course, BASKETBALL. After the preliminary turnout of over fifty candidates was cut by Coach Ziegler to fifteen, the fellows engaged in a few scrimmages with other schools to try and find a good combination and bring the roster down to ten men. During the exhibition season work was done mainly on acquiring a threatening offense while maintaining a tough defense.

Personnel-wise we have the long and short of it in the persons of seniors Chuck Horn and Dale Seaks who stand six-four and five-seven. Rounding out the Varsity squad we have another senior, five juniors and a sophomore. With but one returning letterman a season of building for the coming years is almost inevitable; such was the case with this year's Varsity. To be sure the fellows and fans will long remember contests like South Western which went into a double overtime and ended in a Lion defeat, and the York Suburban game which was lost to the Trojans by one point but contained a hotly contested field goal by Dave Ziegler which was finally disallowed. As was predicted by Coach Dave Ziegler, the team did not win many games, but the experience and fun had by all were rated of prime importance by coach and players.

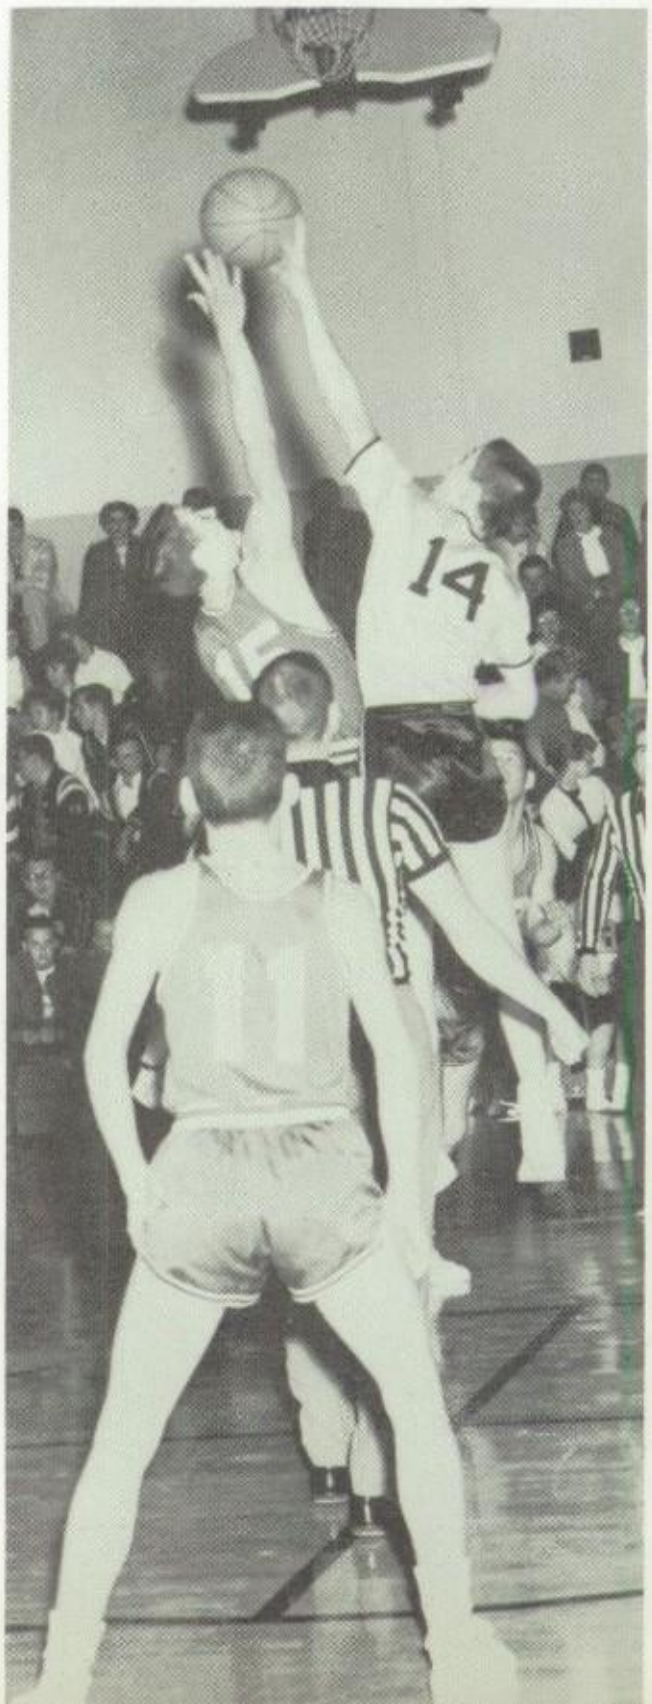
J.V. and Frosh Hoopsters

This year the Junior Varsity was composed entirely of sophomores who, along with their new coach from junior high, Gable Snyder, experienced their first year of J.V. basketball. These fellows did not have a winning season, but they did have some real exciting games, a half dozen of which were decided in the final minute. The experiences that will probably stand out most in their minds, however, were those dreaded scrimmages with the Varsity.

Mr. William Carlson, also a new member to the teaching and coaching staffs, began with over fifty anxious cubs. After reducing this number to fifteen, our scrappy representatives began their long season paced by forward Wayne Neff. After a little offensive trouble the season progressed with the freshmen losing a few heartbreakers and finally winning a fair percentage of their last few games.

Jerry Kline gets his jump shot away in an anxious moment during the J.V. game with Dallastown.



"Skeeter" Koons barely out-jumps his tall opponent but manages to maintain control during a junior varsity game with Lancaster. This contest was played previous to the league matches.

Athletic Extras Provide Fun and Work

These boys really aren't trying to drive off the bad spirits, they're getting in shape for wrestling. They do not wrestle in the Varsity League, but have pick-up matches with other schools and at the YMCA to try to improve themselves.

The FRESHMAN CLASS with its 313 students, the largest ever to invade the den of the Lions, is finally settled and getting in the swing of things in our senior high school. Their faces are no longer filled with bewildered expressions as at the beginning of the year, but now with mischievious grins. While not winning any special honors or awards, they have held a comfortable scholastic average, a feat not always successfully accomplished by their more experienced elders. They have been on both honor rolls consistently and athletically are progressing nicely. Our Lion cubs hold memberships in many of the school activities, contributing many fresh and new ideas. They do their share of the work in Student Council and have contributed in extracurricular activities such as the production of a float and home-room Christmas door decorations. The FRESHMEN have made the transition into full fledged Lions in a remarkably short time.

Eagerly the Freshmen

And now for the SOPHOMORES. How could we ever forget them —the components of the second-largest class in school! These wide-eyed young Lions, who help to spark the social and scholastic scene at R.L.A.S.H.S. To be sure the life of a sophomore is more than just biology, algebra, English, world history, etc. Indeed there are many extracurricular activities in which the SOPHOMORES find interest. Among these are having more cheerleaders, majorettes and, we're sorry to say, more cases of appendicitis than any other class. Besides this, they also compose the entire junior varsity basketball team, and their float, "Win the Crown Again," took second prize in the pre-Homecoming Day Parade pep rally. Of course they have some literary talents, too, which are evident in the publishing of their own newspaper, "The Raveler," an English project in conjunction with the study of "Silas Marner." This list could grow unlimited, and it is all due to the hard-working and industrious Lion cubs whom we call the SOPHOMORES.

Juniors Who Find a Sudden Interest

Activity period often proves to be the busiest part of the day with students going to clubs and appointments. These juniors—Linda Fogle, Dane Grove and Rodney Grim—wait for Miss Lord to sign their passes.

These young femmes were chosen by the juniors as class officers—Sandra Markey, secretary; Barbara Anderson, treasurer; Linda Wagner, president; Pam Warner, vice-president.

Wonder what Karen Herbst and Sandy Smeltzer are looking for in a mid-day stop at their lockers?

The Class of '63 is full of energy . . . its members have a part in practically everything that goes on around the school. The athletes on the class roster form a strong foundation for both varsity and jayvee teams, and their contributions to the musical organizations of the school are many and varied. It is quite evident from the percentage of their members on the honor roll, that scholastically, they can exhibit some "bee-yu-tee-ful" report cards, even a few monotonous (?) all-A ones. Breaking away from the policy of the last few years, that of collaborating with the seniors on the annual school play, these JUNIORS are eagerly looking forward to their own stage production. Last, but certainly not least, is the thrill and excitement of the prom. Just what else is up their sleeves no one knows, for they are constantly on the lookout for a bit of fun, and schoolwise, aware they have only one year to go.

Three-Year Veterans Who Now Know Every

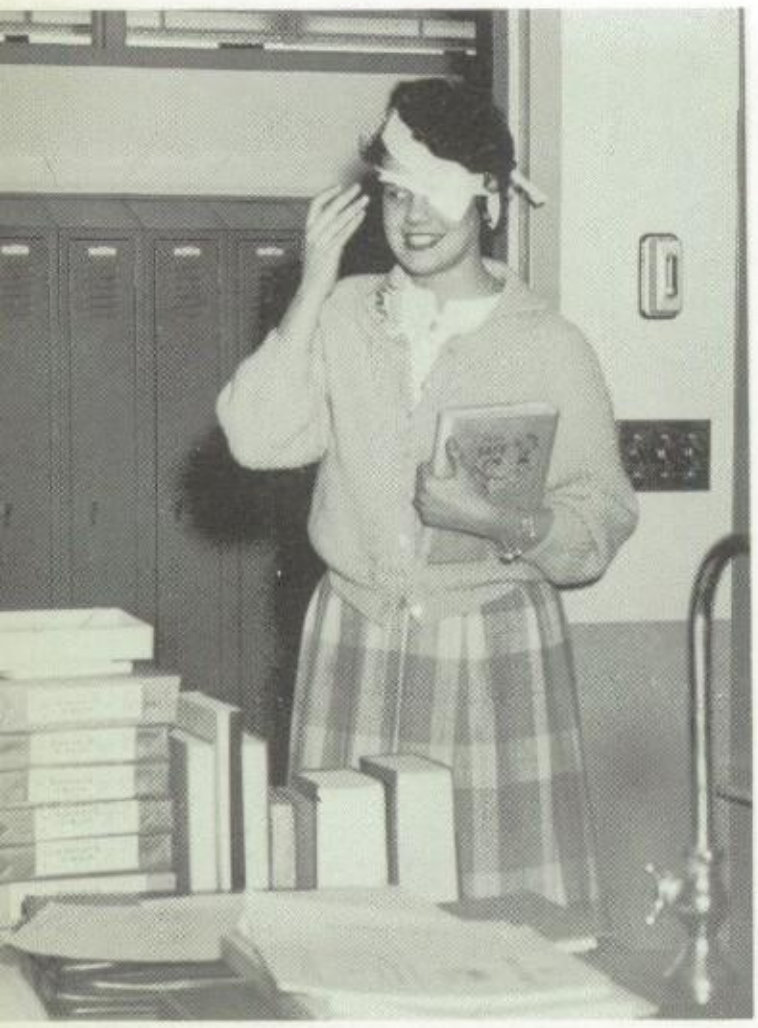
Bradley Smith and Douglas Meads rest for a moment while helping to undecorate the Valentine dance. The hula hoops were used as part of the decorations for chandeliers.

A rare sight indeed is to find seniors pausing for a moment from all of the hectic activities in which they take part. Joel Michael, Susan Grim, Jan Uhler and Susan Sheckert recall fond memories of their high school life as they realize the final moment is approaching.

Those Who Will Often Reminisce of This



One inch of vaseline is Mr. Shaffer's cure for an eye which has caught a stray ray during a spectroscopy experiment. Mary Ann decides to get back at this practical joker and takes his advice.

As one of the most memorable periods in the lives of the senior Lions comes to an end, excitement runs high. Class colors and the class motto have been chosen, and graduation announcements selected. In the fall the seniors began to design, erect and present their last float for the annual parade pep rally which captured first place honors. Next, they became involved in the tryouts, preparations and presentation of their class play, "Cinderella Rose." Throughout the year, the big Lions have been busily engaged in earning their last sports letters while the enthusiastic Lionesses cheer their boys to victory and garner some letters of their own.

Extracurricular activities are not the only activities in which the seniors rank high. They proudly hold their place on the honor roll with a high percentage of their class represented. This is substantiated by the large number of scholarships awarded to future college students.

As the senior Lions prepare to terminate their compulsory education, they prepare to matriculate into colleges, enter into business or trade schools, or venture out into the world for which they have been prepared at the Den of the 1050 Young Lions. Since the interests of the seniors are very varied, their choice of institutions of higher learning also vary. Applications range from Dartmouth in New Hampshire to Ohio University to Duke in North Carolina, to say nothing of the Pennsylvania colleges.

As their four years of high school rapidly come to a close, members of the Class of '62 hope to be remembered for a measure of outstanding accomplishments and contributions.

HAINES, DORCAS R. . . . R.D. 1, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . "Cynthia" centers her energies around the LEONID staff of which she is editor-in-chief. She is an active member of the Band and Orchestra and plans to become a mathematician.

HALL, GREGG A. . . . 10 First Ave., Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Gregg belonged to the Hobby Club for two years, played football in his freshman year and is quite interested in cars.

HANGEN, MARY ANN . . . 34 W. High St., Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Our versatile Student Council president plans to major in home economics. She is a talented actress and musician, shown by her appearance in two class plays and chorus.

HANNIGAN, NINA L. . . . 257 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Nina has been a member of Dramatics Club, Art Club, and wrote feature for the LEONID. After graduating, she plans to attend college.

Perhaps Uppermost,

HOLTZINGER, ROGER N. . . . R.D. 1, Brogueville . . . College Preparatory . . . Sports catch this lad's eyes, as "Butch" participates in many sports programs. His first love is baseball, but he also appeared in two class plays.

HORN, CHARLES H. . . . 407 Hillside Drive, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Chuck, when not dribbling down the basketball court, is busily working as co-editor of the LION. This active senior and member of the Varsity Club intends to major in physics or psychology.

HORN, DAVID A. . . . 649 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . One of the athletic seniors, Dave lists all sports as his hobby. Active in track and football, he also found time for tumbling. His future includes the armed forces and factory work.

HORTON, CAROLE ANN . . . R.D. 2, Red Lion . . . Commercial . . . Carole, who is very fond of animals and wildlife is also taken up by sewing; too, she can often be found with a book in her hand. Carole wishes to do secretarial work after graduation.

(HOSTLER) DOWNS, JOAN E. . . . High Street, Felton . . . Commercial . . . Like most girls, "Blondie" likes to dance and to participate in sports programs. She would like to travel to Hawaii and then become a secretary.

HUSON, NANCY L. . . . R.D. 1, Felton . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . A horseback riding fan, Nancy finds time to share in several of the school's extra activities. She hopes she might find some interesting work or become a housewife.

JORDAN, GEORGE E. . . . R.D. 1, Airville . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . The outstanding school activity of this future farmer is his three-year membership in F.F.A. from which he has won several awards in agriculture.

KALTRIEDER, TERRANCE L. . . . R.D. 2, Red Lion . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . In F.F.A. four years, Terry has gained helpful information and hints for making his future farm an agricultural success. His favorite sport is hunting.

KAUFFMAN, JASON E. . . . R.D. 9, York . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . One of our talented musicians is Jason, a four-year member of Band and Orchestra. He also is interested in F.F.A. and hunting.

KAUFFMAN, JOAN M. . . . R.D. 1, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . A lover of arts, who wants to go to college to become an art teacher, Joan is active in Art Club and extra art activities. She also tried her hand in dramatics.

Practicing with the KREEGER, PAULINE M. . . . R.D. 2, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Four years participation in G.A.A. for Pauline, who is also a member of F.H.A. She considers knitting, sewing and salt-and-pepper-shaker-collecting her favorite hobbies.

KROUSE, ROBERT L. . . . R.D. 2, Delta . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . A sports fan, Bob enjoys tumbling and has participated in football. His hobby is cars, specifically the mechanization of them. He expects to become a farmer.

KUNKLE, MICHAEL E. . . . 320 Atlantic Ave., Red Lion . . . Industrial Arts . . . Mike maintained his position in the Band as clarinet player for four years. He likes hunting, aviation and photography and is a member of Photography Club.

LAIRD, CHARLES R. . . . R.D. 1, Windsor . . . Industrial Arts . . . Because of Dick's talent as a guitarist, he appeared in several assemblies and "Cinderella Rose." His interest in sports is accented by tumbling and archery.

LANDIS, KRISTINA L. . . . 463 Highland Road, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Peppy captain of the cheerleading squad, Kris is also active in music groups and writes her own column in the LEONID. Kris plans for nursing.

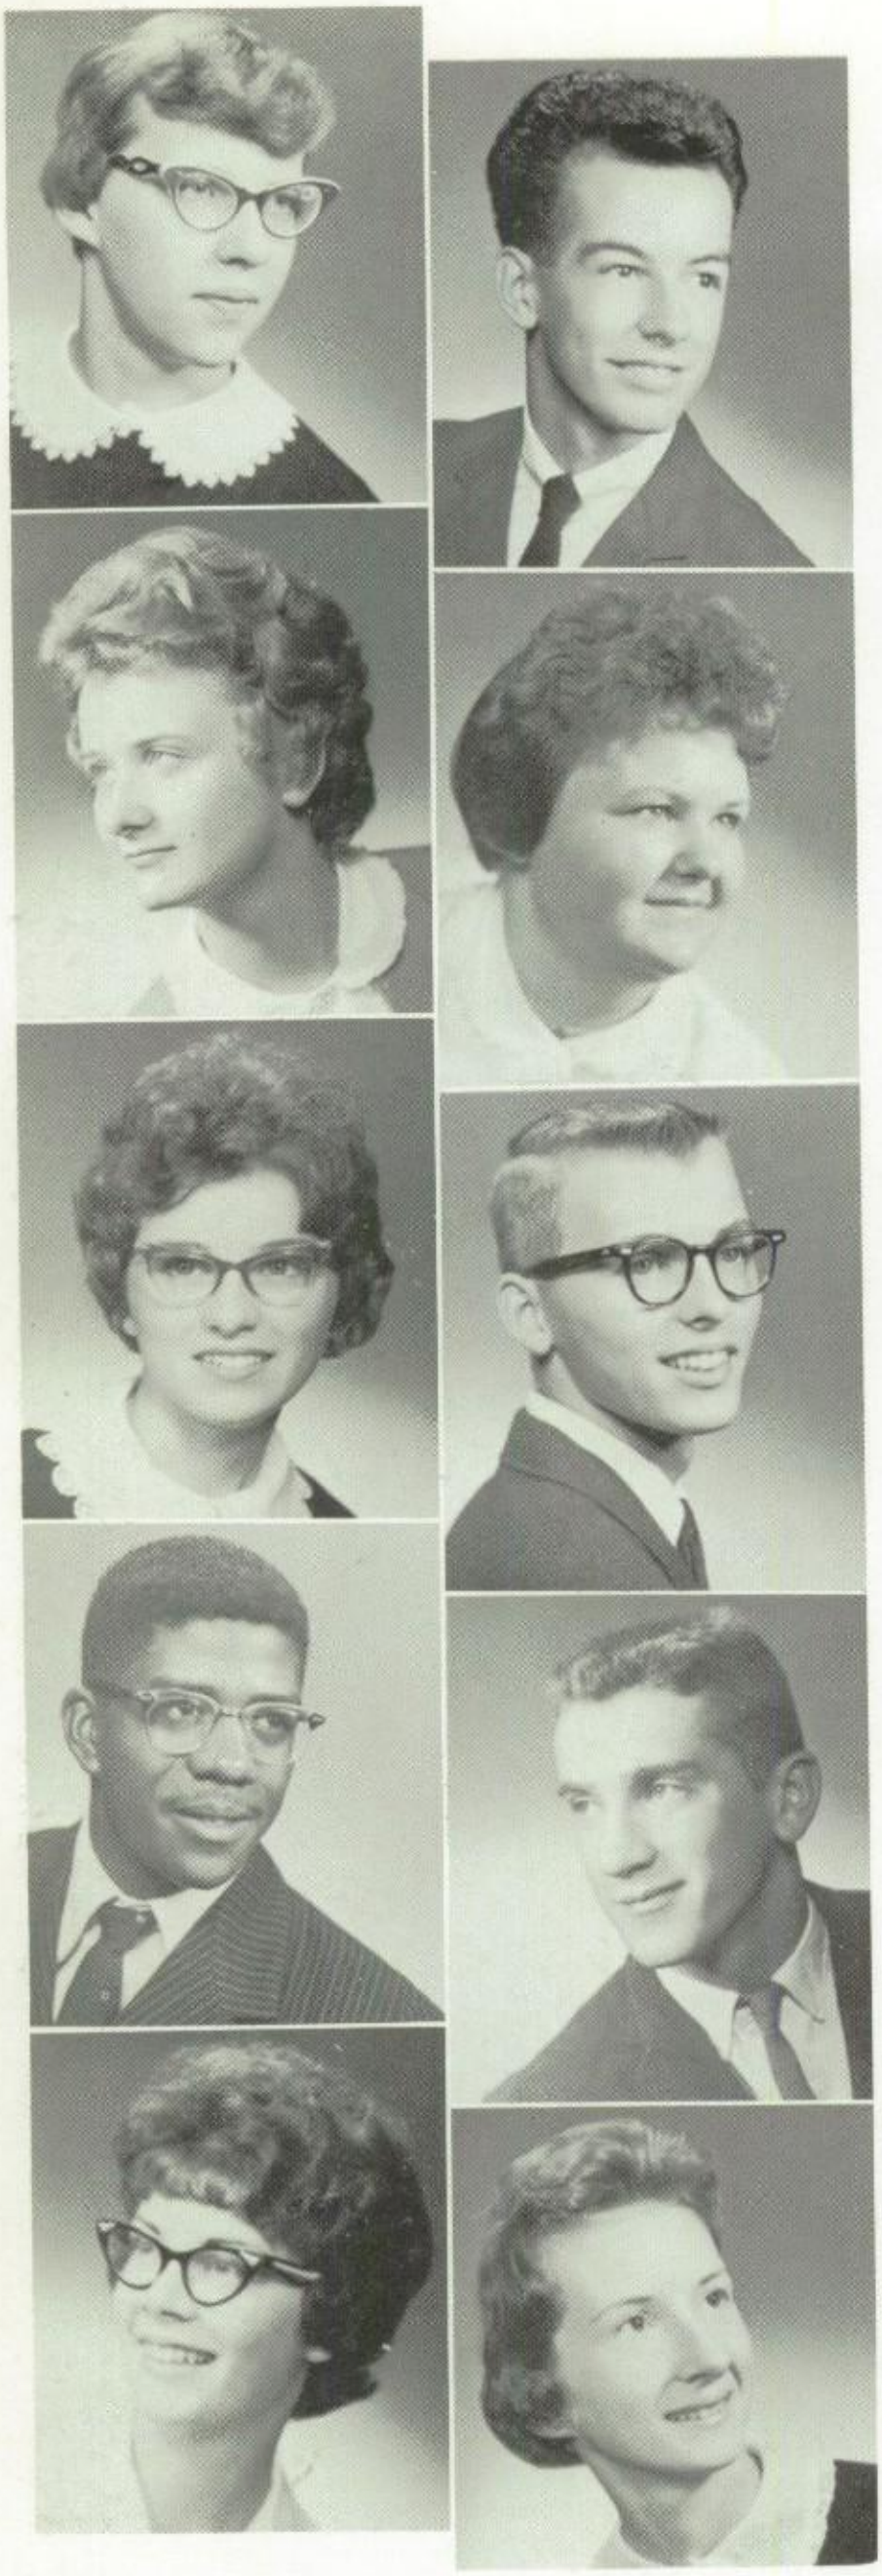
LAUER, MARY E. . . . 25 E. Chestnut St., Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Her main activities are chorus, G.A.A., majorettes and Student Council. This great golfer plans to study X-ray technology at the University of Maryland.

LEIPHART, KENNETH H. . . . R.D. 1, Brogueville . . . Industrial Arts . . . Ken's interests center on archery, tumbling and go-karting. The stage is familiar to him, for he is a member of Stage Crew; Ken plans to be a truck driver.

MCCLEARY, KAY ELLEN . . . R.D. 1, Brogueville . . . Commercial . . . Kay's love of reading books stems from her being a library assistant but sports also beckon her to G.A.A. In her spare time she enjoys embroidering and oil painting.

MARKEY, JUDY A. . . . R.D. 1, Red Lion . . . Commercial . . . One of the very efficient businesswomen for the LION, Judy also participates in G.A.A. Her favorite pastime is ice skating but reading and traveling run close seconds.

MARUSAK, THELMA . . . R.D. 1, Airville . . . Commercial . . . An urging interest for drawing draws Thelma to Art Club while her Thespianism finds her in dramatics. She plans to undertake a secretarial job.



Working on Projects

NORRIS, KAY L. . . . 744 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . Commercial Stenographic . . . Because she enjoys being with other people, Kay is fond of her job as a baby-sitter. After she graduates, she would like to become a secretary.

POMRANING, LINDA A. . . . R.D. 2, Delta . . . Commercial Stenographic . . . Linda has performed many tasks as a typist for the LION. She was also a member of Library Club, Tri-Hi-Y and Tumbling Club. She plans to be a secretary.

Or Just Burning

RUFF, NEIL S. . . . Airville . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Neil is interested in sports and has participated in tumbling, football, baseball and track. He was also a member of Varsity Club. After graduation, his aim is to become a barber.

RUNKLE, DELORES A. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Because she especially enjoys music and dancing, Delores has been an active member of the Dancing Club for two years. She hopes to find a secretarial position.

SAWMILLER, SANDRA A. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . Commercial Stenographic . . . Sandy has given many of her free moments to the Junior Red Cross and participated in this activity for two years. She plans to do secretarial work after graduation.

SCHELL, GARY L. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Because his favorite pastime is singing, Gary has been a member of both the Mixed and Boys Choruses. His post-graduation plans are to join the Navy.

SEAKS, DALE E. . . . R.D. 2, Red Lion . . . Industrial Arts . . . Although only a one year member of the team, small but mighty Dale has done well on the basketball court. He is a musician, and has belonged to the Marching and Dance Bands.

SECHRIST, DARLENE E. . . . R.D. 2, Felton . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Darlene has been active in Tumbling and Dancing Club and F.H.A. Her membership in the Future Nurses Club is leading her to a career as a nurse.

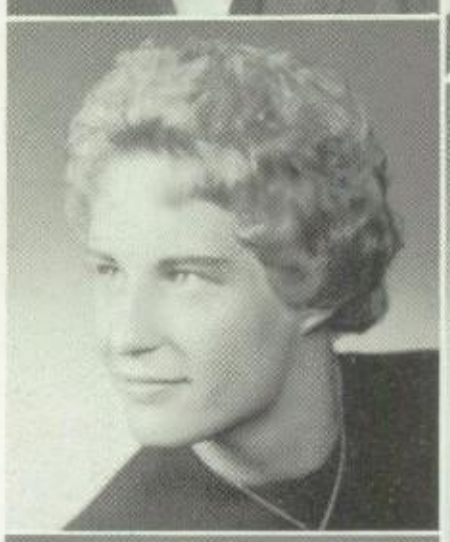
SECHRIST, WILLIAM C. . . . 164 Linden Ave., Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Bill is quite busy as he performs his duties as Senior Class president, but he finds time to be treasurer of the Student Council and member of the LEONID staff. He plans to attend college after graduation.

SECHRIST, WILLIAM M. . . . 24 S. Main St., Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . As an ardent sports fan, Bill has been a member of the track team for three years and a member of last year's Tumbling Club. He plans to work for a contractor.

SEIPLE, DEAN J. . . . R.D. 9, York . . . Vocational Agriculture . . . Dean has a special interest in farming and therefore has been an active member of the Future Farmers of America. His future plans are to work for a contractor.

SEIPLE, JOYCE M. . . . R.D. 2, Felton . . . College Preparatory . . . Joyce finds great pleasure in singing in the Girls and Mixed Choruses. She is also a member of Dancing Club and G.A.A. Her post-graduation plan is to become an elementary teacher.

But the List



SHINDLER, ROBIN K. . . . R.D. 1, Windsor . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Robin enjoys all types of acrobatics and has been an enthusiastic member of Tumbling Club. He has also belonged to the Band and has participated in the senior play.

SHULTZ, NANCY A. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . Commercial Clerical . . . Nancy has been a faithful member of tumbling groups for four years. Her after school pastimes center around the 4-H Club in which she is an active member.

SIDONI, RICHARD A. . . . 449 Wise Ave., Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Dick is a sports enthusiast and has been a member of the track and baseball teams and Varsity Club. His favorite sport is football and he has been on the team for four years.

SILAR, JEFFREY L. . . . R.D. 1, Windsor . . . College Preparatory . . . Jeff has an interest in archery; however, hunting and coin collecting head his list of hobbies. His post-graduation plan is to attend college.

SMITH, BRENDA D. . . . R.D. 1, Red Lion . . . Commercial Clerical . . . Brenda had participated in many diversified activities. She has been a member of the Archery, Tumbling and Dramatics Clubs and also belonged to Library Club and G.A.A.

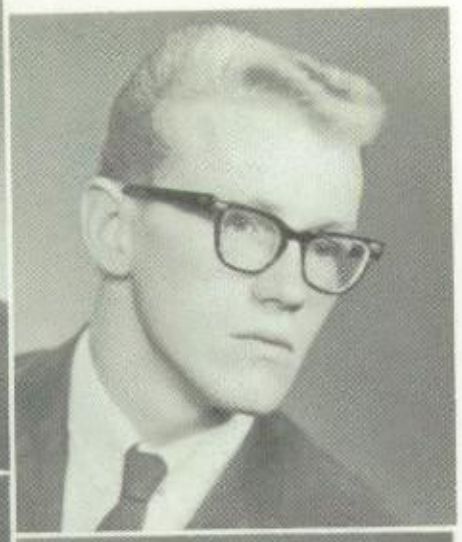
SMITH, BRENDA L. . . . 9 East High St., Windsor . . . College Preparatory . . . Because Brenda's main interest is art, she plans to major in this subject. She has been active in Art Club, Mixed Chorus and Student Council.

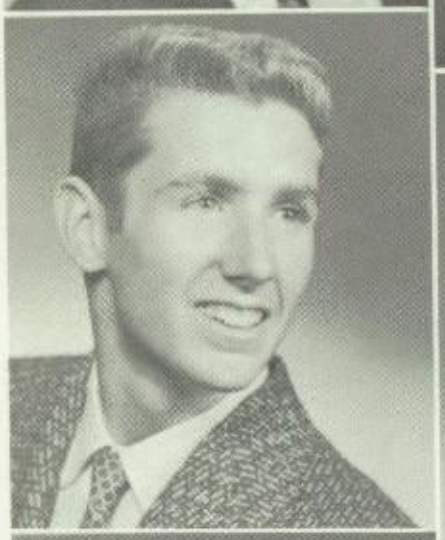
SMITH, BRIAN L. . . . 127 W. Gay St., Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . As a member of both the football and basketball teams for four years, Brian is quite interested in these sports. Cars are his hobby.

SMITH, KAY L. . . . R.D. 9, York . . . College Preparatory . . . As a member of the make-up staff of the LION, Kay finds her senior year to be quite a busy one. Because she enjoys sketching and painting, she plans to make this hobby her vocation.

SMITH, MARY L. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Mary is a very active member of the Senior Class who finds much of her time spent in writing editorial for the LION. She plans to enter college and major in French.

SMITH, NAN E. . . . 334 Atlantic Ave., Red Lion . . . Commercial Clerical . . . Nan has been a member of Mixed Chorus, Archery Club and Dramatics. Her hobbies include collecting records and dancing.





What We Want to

STELL, FREDERICK A. . . . 609 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . The director of the Hayseed Orchestra of "Cinderella Rose" is a sportsman. Homeroom duties as secretary and treasurer have helped to keep "Fuzz" occupied.

STEPHENS, DONALD E. . . . 237 Wise Ave., Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . "Duck," who plans to enter Williamsport Trade School next year, has acquired a long list of sports activities including football, track and three years in Varsity Club.

STERNER, CARROLL M. . . . R.D. 9, York . . . College Preparatory . . . Having a keen interest in music, "Buddie" is a faithful Band and Orchestra member. In his spare time he relishes hunting and target shooting. He anticipates going to college.

STEWART, LESLIE D. . . . R.D. 3, York . . . Commercial . . . Though having little interest in extracurricular activities, Les participated in Band several years. Besides liking music, he also enjoys eating Italian food and tinkering with cars.

STOKES, CHARLES F. L. . . . R.D. 1, Airville . . . Industrial Arts . . . Leroy's special interests in his school life include archery and tumbling and he also likes to race. His potential plans are for the service.

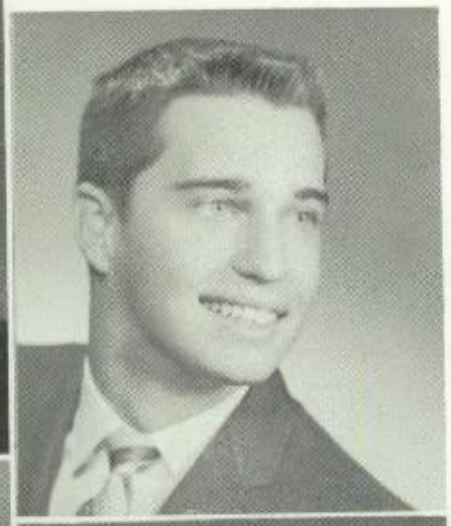
STOKES, PATRICIA A. . . . R.D. 1, Brogueville . . . Commercial . . . Patsy's senior hours are being spent as student secretary for Mr. Shoemaker and as typist for the LION. This future secretary lists her major interest as reading.

STOKES, SHELBY J. . . . R.D. 1, Airville . . . Commercial . . . One of the Lower Chanceford crew, Shelby hasn't found interest in any of the extracurricular activities, except Art Club in which she shows her talent for drawing.

STRICKLER, LANA R. . . . 20 Prospect St., Red Lion . . . Commercial . . . This busy senior is homeroom president, class treasurer, head majorette, typist for the LION and student secretary for Mrs. Jackowick. She plans to get a secretarial job.

STRICKLER, PAMELA A. . . . 1001 Locust Grove Road, York . . . College Preparatory . . . Having a great sense of humor is one of Pam's assets among her classmates though not active in extracurriculars. She wishes to become a teacher.

SULLIVAN, MARY E. . . . R.D. 1, Woodbine . . . Commercial . . . Being musically minded, Mary's only extra activities include Chorus and Orchestra. She would like to go to Thompson's Business School or get a secretarial job.



Being One of the

TYSON, PAULA C. . . . R.D. 2, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Paula enjoys art and music very much and has belonged to both Art Club and Girls Chorus. Her future plans are to attend college.

UHLER, JAN F. . . . R.D. 3, York . . . College Preparatory . . . Jan, a cameraman for the LION, manages to belong to the Band and Mixed Chorus. His goal is to be a chemical engineer. He will further his education at Delaware.

VAN DYKE, MARIE L. . . . R.D. 1, Woodbine . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Marie has found the Future Homemakers of America to be quite an enjoyable and profitable activity. She has chosen to become a policewoman.

VAN DYKE, NELLIE E. . . . R.D. 1, Woodbine . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Nellie has been an active member of the Future Homemakers of America. She, too, has chosen the life of policewoman as her future.

VAN FOSSEN, EDWARD . . . 407 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . Basic Fundamentals . . . Ed is quite interested in all types of music and has been an active member of the Band and Orchestra. He plans to go into drafting.

WARNER, BONNIE L. . . . 246 N. Charles St., Red Lion . . . Commercial Clerical . . . Bonnie excels in sports and has been a member of G.A.A., Tumbling and Dancing Clubs and Student Council. Her favorite pastimes are swimming and riding.

WATKINS, SUSAN A. . . . 602 W. Broadway, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Although Susie was not with us the entire year, she served as business editor of the LEONID, and member of Student Council, Girls and Mixed Choruses and Dramatics Club.

WERNER, WAYNE F. . . . R.D. 1, Red Lion . . . Industrial Arts . . . Wayne's interested in all types of athletics but has a special interest in Tumbling Club, an organization in which he has been a member for three years. His hobby is cars.

WIERMAN, ANONA M. . . . R.D. 3, Red Lion . . . College Preparatory . . . Anona finds most of her time being occupied by her duties as assistant editor of the LION. She is also in G.A.A. Her future plans are indefinite.

WINGLER, JO ELLEN . . . 1040 Locust Grove Road, York . . . Commercial Clerical . . . Jo has been a member of Mixed Chorus, Tri-Hi-Y and the Future Homemakers of America. Her hobby is working in ceramics.

The Senior Class of Red Lion Area School

presents

Cinderella Rose

8:00 P.M.
NOVEMBER 9-10, 1961
High School Auditorium

Director Mrs. Hilda C. Jackowick
Student Director Jane Poff

"Cinderella Rose" Was Not a Wallflower

Opposite page: Dress rehearsal for the senior play finds the Hayseed Orchestra—Kenneth Leiphart, Steve Anderson, Roger Holtzinger, Fred Shaw, Fred Stell, Charles Laird, Jan Uhler, Kenneth Stearn and Kenneth Shaull practicing their number on a most unusual collection of instruments. Joan Kauffman (on the ladder) seems to be oblivious to their music as she retouches scenery.

Mary Ann Hangen, taking the role of Rose Higgins, has had enough hard work while Alayne, her beautiful cousin, and Ted Shannon, Alayne's boyfriend, are with the other students of Cameroun College. At times she finds the inconsiderate attitude of Ted and Alayne, (Curvin Burk and Susan Grim,) just too hard to take.

The grand finale, and the entire cast of "Cinderella Rose" gather to sing the title song. . . . Susan Grim, Alayne; Curvin Burk, Ted Shannon; Mary Ann Hangen, Rose Higgins; Clark Barshinger, Bob Shannon; Nina Hannigan, Genevieve Svenson; Morris Stein, Sammy Simms; Kay Snyder, Angelina Hobbs; Amelia Taylor, Mrs. Hobbs; Charles Ebersole, the iceman; Kenneth Ruby, messenger boy; Neil Ruff, chef.

Those Little Extras in a Senior's Day

Left: Harry Olp and Palmer Ropp readily offer a helping hand as Mrs. Baerreis distributes school supplies. Right: Quinetta Reider uses several textbooks as she reads the mercury barometer.

Spring Fever Strikes

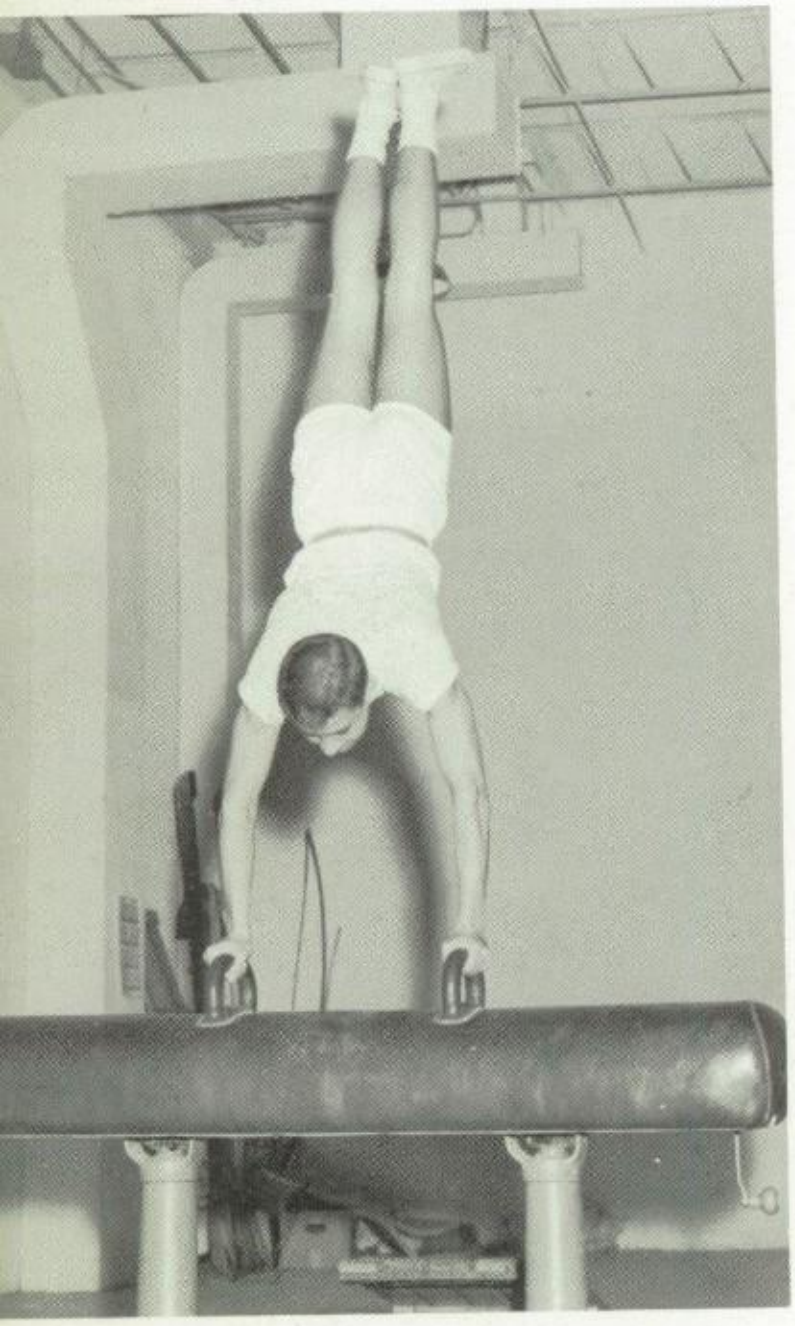
Dave Sprenkle enjoys peering at an upside down world as he does a handspring on the "horse."



JUNIOR PLAY . . . March 8, 10 . . . Rehearsals for this first junior production since we moved to Horace Mann Avenue indicate that the event will be quite a dramatic hit. A comedy, "Room for the Groom" deals with the problems of two young lovers who try as they may just can't get married because their relatives just never seem to let them tie the knot. It has a cast of fourteen.

GYM DEMONSTRATION . . . March 17 . . . Between four and five hundred of the young Lions will take part in this affair, which is a demonstration of the skills learned in gym class. Specially featured will be "Chicken Fat" (the Fitness Song), with appropriate calisthenics, a program distributed by U. S. Chamber of Commerce in the interest of physical fitness in schools.

FACULTY TEA . . . March 12 . . . The Future Teachers Club will sponsor a tea after school. The tea is in honor of our teachers and administrators, and, because of limited time and space, will precede the regular monthly faculty meeting.

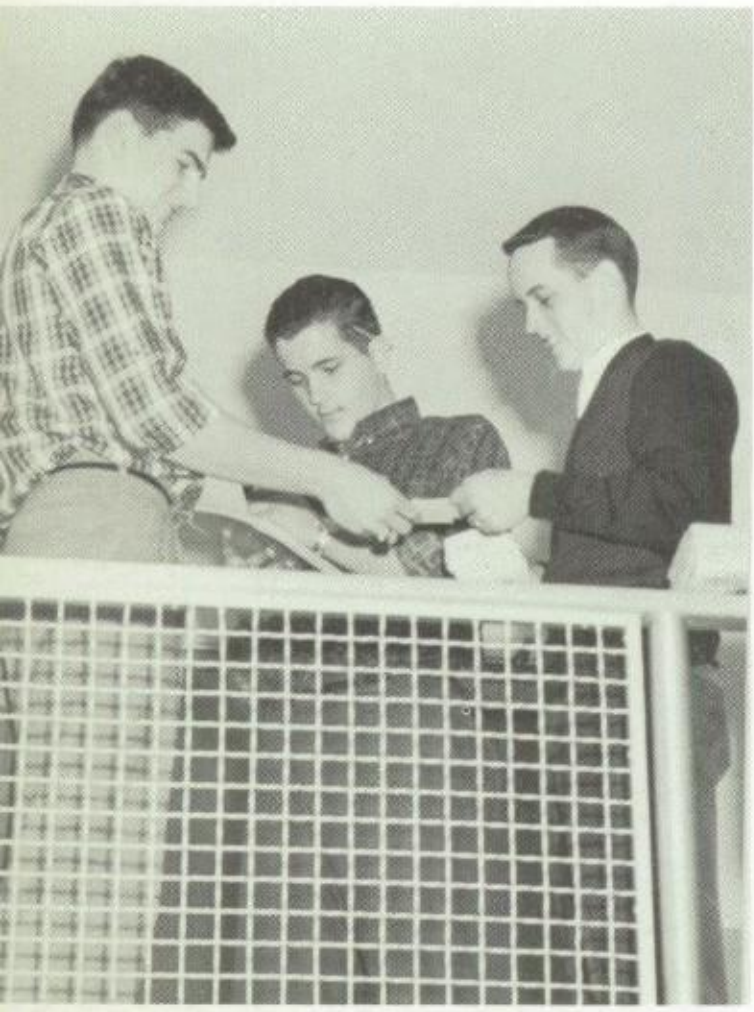
John Pitzer grips his bat as he and Bill Grim watch Mr. Fitzkee break in a catcher's mitt.

Danielle Frey is working laboriously on her clothing which will be displayed at the Fine and Practical Arts Exhibit. Her efforts are admired by home economists Donaleen Bull and Linda Yohe.

FINE AND PRACTICAL ARTS EXHIBIT . . . March 31 . . . Work of three departments on display. The home ec. department will be showing weaving creations, clothing and different foods. The shop department will have different examples in the plastic, wood, metal and drawing fields. The art department will have examples of sculpture, painting and crafts. The work will be exhibited in the respective rooms.

EXCHANGE ASSEMBLY . . . April 13 . . . This year's Exchange Assembly with Dallastown promises to afford much entertainment and promote good will between the two schools. The program is sponsored by the Student Council, and Red Lion's entertainment sponsored by the Student Council and Red Lion's entertainment will feature special numbers by our students. In return Dallastown will bring some of its top talent to our stage.

Indeed in Spring a Young Lion's Fancy



Above: Ken Sechrist and Kirby Hickey hand out tickets to be sold by Varsity Club member Chuck Horn. Below: John Klinedinst prepares for the coming Night of Music.

BETTER DRESSED STUDENT CAMPAIGN . . . April 18 . . . Another new idea from our Student Council—to set aside one day, the day before Easter vacation for all the students to dress up. For boys suits and ties will be the order of the day; for the girls, better dresses, jewelry and heels. The day should prove to be a lot of fun for both students and teachers.

VARSITY CLUB DANCE . . . April 28 . . . Once again the Varsity Club has come up with a novel idea for their annual dance and fun night. Our men of athletics have decided on a dance theme strictly from Hobohemia. The club's members have large hopes for their dance, and if history does repeat itself, this event will be as big an affair as those of previous years.

STUDENT COUNCIL ELECTIONS . . . May 1 . . . Soon color and variety will be added to our classrooms and hallways as election posters are mounted publicizing candidates for president, vice-president and secretary nominated by Student Council. Two weeks prior to elections candidates will be officially presented to the student body during a special assembly, and the enthusiastic campaigning will begin.

NIGHT OF MUSIC . . . May 5 . . . The Band, Orchestra, Dance Band and Boys Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Ward, and the senior high Mixed Chorus and Girls Chorus, with Mrs. Adams as director will be featured. Various instrumental ensembles and solos will be presented. The grand finale will be a combined Band and Chorus number, "Born to Be Free," by Ralph Williams.

SPRING BAND CONCERT . . . May 13 . . . The spring band concert is held annually in Red Lion's Fairmount Park, unless, of course, it rains. It is arranged largely to honor its members from the senior class. This year's concert in mid-May will feature soloists, ensembles and Band, all under the direction of Mr. Ward.

Typesetting by PROGRESSIVE TYPOGRAPHERS, INC., York; printing by PRINTING PLATE CRAFTSMEN, York; covers (Craftco) and binding by KURTZ BROS., Clearfield; senior and faculty portraits by HENRY M. BLATNER, PHOTOGRAPHER, York.

Always a treat for audiences is the appearance of Don Warner who has been featured in Red Lion assemblies through the years. His organ music was brought to us this year by the G.A.A.

The Student Council serves tea, coffee and cookies to the faculty prior to a monthly faculty meeting . . . quite a treat at the end of the day!

FINIS

And now it is time to write finis to another edition of the LION. The typewriters are silent; the photographers no longer rush to check daily assignments; Joel's last Lion has been sketched, the copy proofed and ready to be taken to the printer.

Through these one hundred and sixty pages we have tried to show you the Lions in all the phases of their complicated life . . . the cubs adjusting to a quickened pace of education, sophomores breaking into the various school organizations, juniors feverishly preparing for events ahead, and finally, the seniors who are wondering just who said that the senior year was a time of relaxation. By our numbers alone we could be classified as big business, and like any other big business we have our problems, but despite them we like it here. The life of a Lion is a good one, and it is the hope of all of us that we have been able to convey to our readers just how pleasant has been our stay in the den of the 1050 YOUNG LIONS.
